Shortages Abound: Doorknobs, Bras, Canning Jars, Wool, Paper...

If you've tried to buy a load of cement, glass jars for canning peaches or a yellow tennis-ball, you know what's meant by "shortages." There are even shortages in brassieres and broom-handles.

Princeton retailers report widespread, if spotty, scarcities in all kinds of merchandise, sometimes linked to high prices and occasionally linked to some mysterious and unidentifiable factor not even the manufacturer's know-it-all salesman can explain.

Looming in the mind of many a Princeton home-owner is a possible shortage of fuel oil. But Princeton Fuel Oil and Nassau Oil both say they don't anticipate shortages. Each company hedges its assurance by adding ". . . unless it's VERY cold" or ". . . may be tight at times" but each firm is confident that nobody in Princeton will be cold for lack of fuel oil.

Building materials, wood, paper and textiles seem to be the fundamental shortage. Harry Volwieder, president of S. T. Peterson, the construction firm, laments the shortage of cement, and William Geddes, president of Grover Lumber, joins in.

"I've been told the environmentalists have gone overboard in some respects," reports Mr. Volwieder. "Lehigh Valley cement plants that were marginal, have closed down because it would cost too much to comply with dust-abatement rules."

Mr. Geddes says his salesmen don't seem to know why cement now takes almost three weeks to arrive, instead of the 24-hour order-to-delivery schedule of the past.

"Re-inforcing rods are short — nobody knows why," Mr. Volwieder adds, checking his purchasing lists, "metal deck and siding — why, delivery is 10-12 weeks! Steel bar joists, the same . . . "

Plywood is in very short supply, both men report, although the stratospheric prices of last year dropped this summer. Wood shortages have eased somewhat, but white pine is very tight, Mr. Geddes says. This is the wood used for finishing and cabinet work.

Incidentally, there's a new and sneaky kind of shortage, and it's the kind that usually becomes permanent, even when supplies ease. As every home carpenter knows, the classic two-by-four isn't really two inches by four inches. It's dimensions have always been 1 5/8 inches by 3 5/8 inches.

Without warning, S. T. Peterson found itself with a shipment in new dimensions: 1 1/2 by 3 1/2. Trusses already made had to be adjusted.

"Of course, they sent us a formal notification," Mr. Volwieder relates, "but like all those things, it got to us after the actual shipment."

Finished hardware — doorknobs, lock sets are in short supply, too, Mr. Volwieder reports.

How many of these shortages are artificial, with goods deliberately held back because of price ceilings? Nobody is willing to say.

Those glass canning jars are probably short because home gardeners are now processing their harvest against the winter. Urken's housewares department and the supermarkets, say these jars are

Low-Cost Rides for Elderly to Be Provided

Transportation for Princeton's elderly, at 25 cents a round - trip, will start about October 8. The four - month pilot project, "Crosstown-62," will provide station - wagon service for essential errands only — to medical and dental appointments, shops and banks. No bingo. No trips outside Borough or Township.

Announcement of the new service was made this week by its sponsor, the Joint (Borough- Township) Commission on Aging and its administrator, the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross. Details about hours, scheduling and routes will be announced next week.

Highlights:

- All Borough and Township residents 62 years or older, regardless of income, are eligible. But participants must be ambulatory. No wheel-chairs.
- Those eligible must register, showing proof of age (Medicare card, birth certificate, current or expired driver's license). Registration will be at Borough Hall, Township Hall and the Princeton Public Library between 9:30 and 3:30 starting next Wednesday, September 26, and continuing throughout the four months of the project to accommodate people who turn 62.
- After registration, you are eligible to be a passenger. If you want a ride, you will call a special Crosstown-62 telephone number (to be announced) between 9 and noon weekdays to arrange a time when you will be picked up. The station-wagon will pick you up at your door, and bring you back home.
- You must sign up for your ride 24 hours in advance. Crosstown-62 is not "on-demand" service like a taxi.
- You must be a Borough-Township resident, and you will only be transported within Borough and Township because it is Princeton's two governments that are providing money for the pilot project.

Pilot. "We wanted to do something that didn't depend on a big structure of effort, time and money," explained Mrs. Janet Pearson of the Commission on Aging at a press conference announcing the project.

Kenneth Wells, chairman of the Red Cross' Princeton chapter, said that Mrs. Isabelle Rhodes, staff member of Opinion Research Corporation, will direct an on-going evaluation of the project, and will make a report with recommendations after the four months' trial.

The sponsors want to know: How many elderly will use the service, and how frequently? Is it a practical way to meet an obvious need? Where will most of the trips go — Princeton Medical Center, Princeton Shopping Center, banks? Should Crosstown 62 be expanded to include trips to social centers, churches? What will it cost?

If the project seems successful, it may be continued if money is available, either from the two municipalities or other sources.

The pilot cost is $5,000. Money will go toward salaries for a co-ordinator who will line up the riders as they call in and for station-wagon drivers. It will also pay for insurance, lease of the station-wagon and automobile maintenance.

MORE ON FIREARMS

Township Plans Hearing. The sound of musket fire may be heard again this fall in Township Hall. Committee introduced Monday night an mendment to last year's firearms control ordinance allowing target-shooting on indoor and outdoor ranges if the police chief finds the ranges meet national standards.

To bring the 1972 law into conformity with state standards, Committee also will prohibit discharge of firearms within 450 feet — instead of the previous 300 feet — of "any occupied dwelling" or school playground.

Public hearing, quite possibly vociferous public hearing, will be October 1. The firearms ordinance as a whole is "inadequate," declared Committeeman William Sutphin because it doesn't provide "proper balance between property - owners and hunters, each of which has legitimate interests." He added that he found it "unreasonable" that nobody can discharge firearms in the Township —which is what the ordinance says. Hunters and home - owners dueled briskly last year when the present ordinance was up for hearing.

The ordinance is at present in court, having been taken there last year by the Antlers Club, group of Princeton sportsmen.

Bike Paths Go Forward. Another kind of sport received encouragement from the Township, as Committee passed a $35,000 authorization to construct Phase I bike routes in the Township. A companion ordinance concerned with general guidelines for the bike routes, will be introduced October 1, when public hearing will be held on the appropriation.

To apprehensive questions from Harris Barnet about curb-cut safety, Committee member Barbara Smoyer replied that the bike committee had made no decision on the precise kind of curb-cut, only on streets where the cuts would be made. She urged anyone with knowledge of dangerous intersections to speak out.

Never very far from the edge of the cliff, Princeton Community Housing, Inc. now finds itself on the brink of tax delinquency. PCH's attorney, Henry Broad, wrote the Township asking for extension to December 31, of the October 5, tax payment deadline. After October 5, the PCH property would be liable to tax sale.

The State Housing Finance Agency has not so far responded to repeated pleas for money to pay the tax collector, Mr. Broad reported.

Authority Questioned. Municipal attorney Gordon Griffin questioned whether Committee had the authority to grant such an extension, but he pointed out that even if the Township doesn't, there is a two-year period for redemption after a tax-sale certificate has been issued.

"We must do everything we can to move PCH forward," urged Mrs. Smoyer. She pointed out that ground-breaking may not be far off for the low-and-middle-income housing project.

Committee introduced an ordinance changing the name of Research Road, now under construction, to Bunn Drive in memory of B. Franklin Bunn. Mr. Bunn is the only Princetonian to serve as mayor of both Borough and Township. Public hearing October 15.

In similar action, Committee voted the name "West Stuart Road" to that section in the farthest west of the Township, "East Stuart Road" to the part east of Route 206 which is the "A" road on the official map and just Stuart to the middle ground. Public hearing October 15.

OPEN SPACE, MAYBE.

Canal-side Land May Be Next. Princeton Township may be on the point of agreement with Harold Houghton and Joseph Castoro for purchase of a 6.2 acre canal-side Open Space strip, said Mayor Jay Bleiman this week.

The Township has $140,000 in State and Federal funds to buy the land. When its owners refused to sell at that price, the Township went to condemnation proceedings. Court-appointed appraisers heard Houghton and Castoro's own appraisers value the land at $266,200, then gave an award of $190,350.

This was too rich for the Township, so condemnation was dropped. After a period of time, the owners and the municipality got back together again.

The Township, pointing to the land's $150,350 tax assessment, suggested a selling price of $150,000, to include the owners' legal fees incurred during condemnation. Now all the Township needs is about $10,000 to add to that state-Federal $140,000.

Shortages, Shortages

extremely hard to find. Corning's glass output was shattered by the 1972 floods, and Urken's 1973 Spring order won't be in 'till fall, or even next year.

Natural — or man made — disasters do indeed make shortages. All the fine Irish linens, for example, come from northern Ireland. Eire doesn't export any at all, according to Benjamin Stone, of Stone's Linen Shop.

"One of the factories that supplies me was burned — arson, it was," Mr. Stone reports. "Irish linen — it's sky high!

Flooding of the cotton crop has affected Mr. Stone's suppliers and almost all Princeton retailers who deal in textiles. Three towel manufacturers are withdrawing all their 100 percent-cotton towels, says Mr. Stone. One manufacturer is adding one eighth Dacron to stretch the cotton. Some cheaper towels will be smaller.

But synthetic yarns themselves aren't plentiful, partly because petrochemicals are used in their manufacture.

Cotton Short Too. "Cotton is very short," says Eleanor Nelson, of the Fabric Shop, Chambers Street. "Egyptian and Swiss cottons are prohibitively expensive — $14 a yard! I think it's labor problems, here in the states, plus the flooded cotton crop."

Fine quality polyester knits, usually imported from Holland or Japan, are critically short, Mrs. Nelson finds, although the cheap kinds are plentiful.

Wool has a long history of shortage. Ben Stone says fine Australian wools have been "tight" for two years. Robert Landau, of Landau's, says that when his present Fair Isle Scottish wool sweaters are sold, no more will be available. Anticipating a shortage of natural fibres, he says, Landau's bought heavily.

"Well," shrugs Mrs. Nelson, "there's no shortage in woolen fabrics if you're willing to pay the prices. And a shop like ours, in business for 20 years — we have no problems, but a newer shop might have."

Bra Business Shrinking? Is a cotton shortage shrinking the bra business? No, is the firm reply from Edith Zuckerman, of the Chambers Street lingerie shop. "I've been informed of a four month wait by one company. Why? They fed a wrong forecast into their computer, that's why."

"Besides," and Mrs. Zuckerman expounds a favorite theme: "we have a constant shortage in the staple merchandise that is the bread-and-butter of every shop. Too much in the way of high-fashion and catering to the youth market!"

"We're jumping from one company to another — trying to get tee-shirts and sweatshirts!" exclaims Loar Quickle, of the Princeton University Store, "the cotton is all being taken by the Japanese . . . ."

There it is. Unspoken or sometimes outspoken, shopkeepers say the Japanese are the villains. Cotton, lumber, woolens — to hear many shopkeepers, quoting their manufacturers and suppliers, the Japanese have bought up everything in sight.

Tennis Balls. But tennis balls? No shortage of these, at the U. Store, reports Mr. Quickle, because "we always order heavily — we supply the University's own tennis program and th town tennis program. No problem."

Varsity Sports does find a shortage, especially in the popular yellow balls — "impossible!"

"In spite of the number of labels," explains Varsity's Steve Spiegel, "there are only two tennis-ball manufacturers in the country. When there's a shortage, there's a SHORTAGE."

Anything imported — skis, squash racquets — is hard to get, he says. "It's the lack of stability of the dollar and a lot of indecision on how much to ship over to this country. Besides, the increased demand for sporting goods — why, it's world-wide! A foreign manufacturer has a lot of markets he can choose from."

Sportsmen have their problems, so do artists and businessmen and people furnishing new homes.

Velvets, Too. "Velvets are imported from Italy or Belgium, and they're scarce," says Leonard LaPlaca, of Nassau Interiors, "textile printers will hoard unprinted fabrics and this makes an artificial shortage. And when a textile manufacturer can get more money exporting to Japan. . ."

Honduras mahogany is difficult. Mr. LaPlaca continues, simply because Honduras is a small country and there's a heavy demand for mahogany — it's in fashion, for traditional furniture.

Wood products of another kind, the stretcher strips needed by an artist to mount a canvas, are scarce at Eye for Art. The leading art supply house, Grumbacher, can no longer carry them. Owner Helen Benedict of Eye for Art thinks manufacturers don't make these inexpensive wood items because there's a lot more money in other wooden things. She also suspects pollution controls have pushed the cost of paper production so high that cheaper paper just isn't available any longer.

Broom-handles, also made of wood, are a shortage that's plaguing Urken's.

File Folders, Stationery. Tried to buy file folders lately? An office manager shopping Hinkson's will find that one file folder company, according to Hinkson's owner, Bert Roberto, has discontinued 137 — yes, one hundred thirty-seven — items in its line.

"Stationery is short and prices are up," says U. Store's Mr. Quickle, surveying the stationery department, "we ordered 5,000 brown shopping bags for customers to use here in the store — only got shipped 1,500. That's from Winans Reliance, a big supplier."

Anything in long supply?

Hulit's sees no real shortage in shoes, although the buyers have a wary eye on spring purchases . . . . Tiger Auto doesn't see much change in the bike supply . . . Zinder's says imports are "tight", but this is due to the dollar devaluation, not actual shortages.

But watch out: Amtrak may have its troubles and everybody knows about Penn Central. Did you know about an ominous, up-coming shortage in — model trains? Just ask Nassau Hobby.

The Bowling Alley Tale

In case you haven't heard the one about the Japanese bowling alleys. . . .

Severe shortages in hard maple about two years ago, reports Leonard LaPlaca, who sells furniture at his Nassau Interiors store. Yes, suppliers told him the maple shortage was caused by this bowling alley craze in Japan. Builders from Japan came over here, bought up American maple. . . .

Severe shortage right now in redwood, reports Charles Peterson, of Peterson's Nursery. Why? Mr. Peterson's suppliers tell him they can't get redwood planters because of this bowling-alley craze in Japan. Builders swarming all over California buying up American redwood. . . .

TWO 3-CAR ACCIDENTS

In Township. There were two accidents involving three vehicles each in the Township last week.

One occurred at 6:38 Saturday evening at the intersection of Birch and Leigh Avenues. John J. Burgmeier, 21, Indian Harbor Beach, Fla. was charged by Ptl. Harry Morton with failing to stop for a stop sign and running into the left side of a station wagon driven by Alfonza A. Hale, 23, 240 John Street.

The entire front end of the Burgmeier car and entire left side of the wagon were damaged. Mrs. Hale was treated at nearby Princeton Medical Center for bruises and abrasions.

The impact forced one of the cars into a parked Bell Telephone truck.

Friday, three cars were involved in a skidding mishap on the Lawrenceville Road some 50 feet south of the Stony Brook Bridge. All three were extensively damaged.

Both Joseph T. Leadem, 52, of Trenton, driving a utility truck, and Mildred M. Allen, 51, of Trenton, accused each other of failing to keep in the proper lane. Ptl. Peter Savilli ticketed each for failing to keep right. In addition, Mrs. Allen was ticketed for driving an unsafe car.

William H. Petrone, 25, of Manville, traveling north behind the Leadem vehicle, sustained damage to the front end and windshield of his car when the collision spun the Allen car around and into his path. "I don't know who hit who," he told Ptl. Savalli.

Mr. Petrone was treated at the Medical Center for multiple lacerations of the left eye, leg and arm; Mrs. Allen for multiple contusions and abrasions. Mr. Leadem refused medical treatment for a pain in his left knee.

It was raining and the road was wet at the time of the mishap.

CYCLIST HIT BY CAR

45 Sutures Needed. An 11-year-old boy was struck by a car Tuesday at 5:15 p.m. as he was riding his bicycle toward his home on Harrison Street.

David Mazella, 270 N. Harrison, was treated for lacerations of his knee and elbow at the Princeton Medical Center where 45 sutures were needed to close his wounds.

The driver, Bruce Kemp, 184 Clover Lane, told Ptl. William Potts that he was traveling down Franklin Avenue toward Snowden when a bike suddenly came from the right at an angle into his path. He slammed on his brakes but was unable to avoid contact.

The youth told police that he had just ridden up Leavitt Lane and had entered the intersection of Franklin Avenue when he was hit. There were no charges.

THREE ARE ARRESTED

In Tape Recorder Theft. Two Borough residents and a Cranbury man have been charged by both Borough and Township police following the theft Monday of a tape recorder from a parked car.

Charged by Township police with possession of stolen property are Jeffery R. Lowe, 26, 115 Princeton Arms West, Cranbury; Miss Margaret Hansen, 23, and John H. Emerson, 23, both of 23 Witherspoon Street. They are scheduled to appear in Township court October 17.

The same three have been charged with larceny by Borough police and are scheduled to appear in court there on October 3.

The incident began in the Borough when Samuel Deturo of the Peyton-Callaway Real Estate office, 246 Nassau St., called Borough police at 6:05 to report that a $90 tape recorder had just been stolen from his car parked in front of the office. He gave a description and registration of the suspects' car and a description of the occupants. Borough police put out an alert.

A few minutes later, Ptl. Peter Savalli and Ptl. William Potts of the Township observed the car parked in front of Conte's Bar, 339 Witherspoon Street.

The suspects were brought to Township Headquarters, where the owner made a positive identification of the recorder. The three were then taken to Borough headquarters where Det. Timothy Huizing charged them with larceny.

All were released in their own recognizance from both police departments, pending their appearance in court.

24 Tapes Stolen. Twenty-four stereo tapes valued at $168 were stolen Thursday evening from a locked car on Mount Lucas Road between 9 and 10:30. The owner is Mark P. Descoteaux, 57 N. Tulane Street.

Police said that a right front window had been forced to reach the tapes.

TOWNSHIP HOMES ROBBED

Last Week In Daylight. Two Princeton Township homes were entered last Wednesday during daylight hours.

One on Parkside Drive was entered between 1:50 and 3:10 p.m. when the owner returned home and discovered the living room and two bedrooms had been ransacked. Men's and women's jewelry and silverware with a combined value of $3,861 were taken, police said.

A rear screen door had been cut to gain entry. Ptl. Jerry Offredo investigated.

Access to a home on Stuart Road was gained between 10 a.m. and 3:40 p.m. by prying open a door on the west side of the house. The house was completely ransacked.

Taken were some silverware and $450 from a master bedroom. Ptl. David Wilbur investigated.

WINDSHIELDS BROKEN

In Separate Acts. The windshields of two taxi cabs were broken last week by rocks.

One cab had been parked at the railway station on University Place. The second vandalism occurred while a cab was in motion on Witherspoon Street Thursday at 5:50 p.m. The Police said that the two cabs were operated by different companies.

NINE ARE FINED

For Speeding. Nine Princeton area drivers were fined Monday by Judge Philip Carchman in Borough court. The four-page court calendar listed 42 drivers charged with speeding.

Seven paid $15 fines. Charles F. Rabens, 28 North Gate Apartments, Cranbury; Jennifer D. Meyer, 31 628 Alexander Road; Ralph F. Kleiber Jr., 18 8 Robert Road; Palmer H. Ihl, 41 Port Mercer Road; Grace M. Frost, 4365 Province Line Road; Marcia Naphas, 25 199 Harrison Street; and Richard A. Stritch, 33 17 Greenview Avenue. Thomas W. Woolverton, 19 Belle Mead, paid $30, and Evan F. Mee, Route 518, Blawenburg, paid $25.

Failure to report an accident cost Felice Nini, 19, 27 Pine Street, $30. Vallon L. Burris Jr., 26 226A Marshall Avenue, and Julia F. Horrigan, 42 178 Stockton, were fined $20 and $15 for improper turns.

Clarence D. Tuska, 77, 401 Mercer Road, was fined $15 for a stop sign violation and ordered to undergo a re-examination by the Motor Vehicle Department. He pleaded not guilty. Louis DiMeglio, 40, Opossum Road, Skillman, paid $10 for no license or registration in possession.

MEETING WEDNESDAY

On Drug Commitee Budget. The Intergovernmental Drug Committee will hold a meeting on Wednesday, September 26 at 8:30 p.m. In accordance with requests from the Borough Council and Township Committee, the first part of the meeting will be open to the public to discuss the 1974 budget for the operation of Corner House.

Anyone interested in participating in this discussion will be welcome. Corner House is located at 273 Witherspoon Street.

EXHIBITIONIST SOUGHT

By Borough Police. An exhibitionist who exposed himself to a young woman on Franklin Avenue Friday afternoon is being sought by Borough police.

According to police, a light blue Maverick, bearing New York license plates, stopped along side the young woman who was heading toward the high school. The driver had opened the door and had nothing on from the waist down.

The driver was described as about 19 with shoulder length brown hair. Chief Michael Carnevale requested anyone with any information on the incident to notify Borough police.

Weatherwise, matters are just about right. The high pressure area that has been dominating this area since early in the week will remain on the scene, giving us temperatures slightly below normal and keeping the skies generally fair through Sunday.

ASSAULT CHARGE LODGED

Against Borough Juvenile. Charges of assault and battery and possession of alcohol have been lodged against a 17-year-old Borough juvenile.

The charges stem from a disturbance Thursday night between students and teenagers in front of the A&S Luncheonette on Nassau Street. Sgt. John Bellow, Ptl. David Alston and Ptl. Victor Fasanella responded and arrested the youth after he allegedly punched a Princeton University student who was walking with a friend.

Chief Michael Carnevale said that the youth was the same one who was arrested a week ago and charged with assault in an incident at the Suburban Bus Transit office at Nassau and Witherspoon Street.

After being processed by the Borough juvenile officer, Douglas Watson, the juvenile faces a hearing in juvenile court.

Leigh Avenue Man Arrested. Gregory M. Bullock, 23, of Leigh Avenue, was arrested by Ptl. James Agins and Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm Saturday night.

30 Named National Merit Semifinalists

Thirty students attending secondary schools in the Princeton area were among approximately 15,000 of the nation's high school seniors to be named semifinalists in the 1974 National Merit Scholarship competition.

They will compete for some 3,100 merit scholarships to be awarded next spring. Those selected were the highest scorers in each state of the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test administered last October to more than one million students in 17,000 schools.

Selected from Princeton High were William M. Albert, Jonathan E. Freedman, Mark B. Freedman, Sally F. Goldfarb, Evamarie Hendel, William L. Johnson, Nathaniel S. Kuhn, Margaret H. Levine, Kevin L. Little, John M. Myhill, George L. Noble, Martin J. Pensak, Jonathan J. Rome and Jan M. Ziolkowski.

Five students, Claudine P. Frank, Jill L. Goldman, John M. Leyzorek, Timothy J. Platt and Amy D. Stanley, were chosen from Princeton Day School. Heather A. Hazard was named from Stuart Country Day.

Hopewell Valley Regional High School has seven semifinalists including Susan F. Assmann, David W. Denoci, Betsy A. Fell, Robert P. Keough, Brian H. Pregger, Susan E. Shaw and Joan L. Welsky. Randall H. Palmer was chosen from Montgomery High School.

and charged with possession of stolen property.

Bullock allegedly entered a room in Wilcox Hall on the university campus and stole a coed's leather pocketbook containing $28. University proctors, who seized Bullock and notified Borough police, charged him with trespassing. He faces an appearance October 3 in Borough Court.

Another Campus Arrest. The same two officers the following night arrested Albert Leftwich, 20, Main Street, Lawrenceville, outside Little Hall.

Leftwich, apprehended first by university security officers, was charged with trespassing in Little Hall and assault and battery of a university proctor.

The latter occurred when Leftwich and the proctor grappled and fell down a flight of stairs. Released later in his own recognizance, Leftwich was scheduled to appear in Borough Court this Wednesday afternoon.

TO MEET ON SEWERS

Township and State. "I don't want Princeton Township caught in a crossfire between the state and the sewer authority and pressured to take a stand when we don't have all the facts."

Township Mayor Jay Bleiman made that point plain, Monday as he announced that he was scheduled to meet this Wednesday with Richard J. Sullivan, the state's Department of Environmental Protection Commissioner. Mayor Bleiman requested the interview.

"I'm not clear on what the state's position is," Mayor Bleiman acknowledged at Township Committee's Monday night meeting, and his colleagues on Committee agreed with him.

The mayor said he is disturbed about what seems to be an "impasse" between state and Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority. The Authority's chairman, Ezra Bixby of Pennington, has written Mr. Sullivan asking the state to forward to Federal officials the Authority's plan for single treatment plant on the Millstone River, to serve both Princetons, both Hopewells, Pennington and West Windsor.

Federal Attitude Uncertain. Mr. Sullivan has expressed doubts that Federal authorities will approve such a plan, and has suggested a three-plant system instead.

It is this word "suggested" that causes some of the confusion, said Township Committeeman Sanford Reynolds Monday night, and leads the Township to wonder what the state's position actually is.

"Why did the state wait so long — two or three years — to sugest three plants instead of one?" Mayor Bleiman asked. "What are the consequences for the Authority, in this suggestion?

Meanwhile, the Environmental Protection office has apparently not even received Mr. Bixby's letter of request, although it was sent over a week ago.

Ian Walker, executive director of the Stony Brook Watersheds Association, has underscored his organization's support of a three-plant system. He told Township Committee the Association is "deeply concerned" about an apparent break-off between the state and the Authority. He reported that the Authority itself told the state a meeting with state and Federal officials scheduled for September 11, was unnecessary.

In Monday night's Township Hall audience, D.O. North, Township resident who has followed sewer problems closely, charged "obstinate lack of communication for years," between Authority and state. He suggested that "so long as people are obstinate and won't communicate, Princeton Township can probably be very helpful."

WOMAN, 71, INJURED

In Skidding Crash. Mrs. Otto L. Nelson, 71, 261 Carter Road, was hospitalized Friday night, following a skidding accident at the foot of Rosedle Road and Carter Road at 10:35. Taken by ambulance to Princeton Medical Center, she was admitted to the intensive care unit for treatment of internal injuries and a laceration of the lip.

It was raining and the roadway was wet at the time of the single car crash. According to Lawrence Township police, Mrs. Nelson was unable to stop for the stop sign at the foot of Rosedale. Her 1969 convertible skidded across the road onto the property of Peter Lawson-Johnston, 215 Carter where it knocked down a portion of post and rail fence and struck a tree where it came to rest. There was extensive damage to the front end and undercarriage of the car.

Police said that a portion of the rail fence penetrated the windshield of the car almost to the rear. One officer said that it was a miracle that it didn't strike Mrs. Nelson. She was charged with careless driving by Ptl. James Smith.

A Look Back: The Stage Rides Again

More than 200 years ago, when regular stage coach traffic first began to carry passengers and mail between New York and Philadelphia, Princeton was the half-way point where travelers spent the night. The Nassau Inn was established in 1756 to handle just such business.

When the New York-Philadelphia run is re-created Monday and Tuesday, October 1 and 2, Princeton once again will be the layover point, and the Nassau Inn will again provide the lodging.

The coach being driven on the run will be one formerly owned by Donald W. Griffin of 26 South Stanworth Drive.

Re-creation of the run, which will carry official U.S. Mail and paying passengers, is the brain child of Philip B. Hofman of New Brunswick, chief executive officer of Johnson & Johnson and a coaching enthusiast, who purchased the 75-year-old coach from Mr. Griffin about five years ago.

Mr. Griffin is also a coaching enthusiast. He still keeps three sleighs, "a surrey with fringe on top," which was used in the PJ & B production of "Oklahoma," and two horses on his son's property on Amwell Road in Hopewell.

Hospital Benefit. Mr. Griffin's old coach will be named "Liberty Run" for this trip. The names of the major cities it passes through will be painted on it.

Seats aboard the coach, which can hold four inside and 12 on the top, including the driver, or whip, as he is known in coaching parlance, will be offered at $250 apiece. Pieces of mail, which will receive a special hand cancellation, will be carried for $1 each. The money raised will benefit the Episcopal Hospital of Philadelphia.

The coach will depart from the Federal Building in Manhattan, and pass thru the Holland Tunnel—closed for the occasion—into New Jersey.

Four teams of four horses each will pull the coach. The horses will be leapfrogged ahead by motor van after each stage. A stage is the distance one team of horses drives before it is replaced by a fresh team.

Sixteen Stages. The schedule calls for a change in teams every 7 to 12 miles—about the same distance the teams 200 years ago used to pull the coach.

At that pace eight stages would be used each day. The destination is Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the coach's arrival will coincide with the opening of the Philadelphia Horse Show October 2.

TWO STUDENTS RETURN

From AFS Summer Abroad. Jill Goldman and Mary Shoemaker have returned from a summer spent on the Americans Abroad Program of the American Field Service International Scholarships.

Jill, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs Peter Goldman of 113 Washington's Crossing Road, Pennington, is a senior at Princeton Day School. She spent the summer in Turkey with the family of Mr. and Mrs. Kemal Omat of Istamboul, where Mr. Omat is an Inspector for the Soil Products Office of Turkey.

The family has four married sons, and a daughter Jill's age. They spent some weeks at their summer home in Erdek on the Sea of Marmora and the rest of the two months in Istamboul.

Mary, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs Frank Shoemaker, 361 Walnut Lane, is a senior at Princeton High School and spent her summer in Morocco Her AFS "father and mother" were Mr. and Mrs Mohamed Ouazzani and she had a "sister" who was nineteen and two "brothers" eighteen and twelve

Mr. Ouazzani has a large farm outside Fez where the family lives in a city apartment, and this summer they took Mary to Tangier with them for several weeks This winter Mary has an AFS "brother" here in Princeton, Esen Kural from Bursa Turkey who is one of the three AFS foreign students who are living and going to school in Princeton

A third student, Mary Louise Djorup of Princeton High School, is spending a full year in Thailand and attending school there on the AFS School Program.

A meeting to describe these AFS programs will be held on Monday, at 7:30 p.m. in the Princeton High School library. All interested P.H.S. or P.D.S. students in the Junior or Senior classes and their parents are urged to attend Interviews for applicants for the coming year will be held during the first two weeks in October.

SQUAD ASKS AID

For Reserve Fund Drive. The volunteer Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad has launched its annual appeal for operating funds, citing its 24-hour, year-round service to the Princeton community.

Last year, the Squad answered 928 requests from people who needed help because of accident or serious illness. The unpaid volunteers served more than 3,500 hours and traveled 10,678 miles. Three members of the Squad are on duty each night in the year and a two-way radio is in operation 24 hours a day. The emergency number is 924-3338 Each volunteer has successfully completed the American Red Cross Advanced First Aid Course, an the New Jersey State Emergency Rescue Training Course.

Money raised during the fund drive is used to buy and maintain the Squad's equipment, and to repair and maintain the building on North Harrison Street.

Tax deductible contributions may be sent to the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, Post Office Box 529, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

HEADQUARTERS TO OPEN

For Senator Schluter. Campaign Headquarters for Senator William Schluter and Assemblymen Karl Weidel and Walter Foran of the 14th Legislative District will open this Sunday, on Hopewell Spur Route 518 outside Hopewell Borough.

Arthur S. Lane of Harbourton, former federal judge, is Chairman for the reelection of the legislators, and will officiate

The public is invited to attend this reception, scheduled from 4 to 6.

CLASSES PLANNED

On Indian Cooking. Indian cooking has been gaining in popularity in the United States as courses in this elegant cuisine are becoming more available. Such a course has been available in Princeton for nearly a year.

Myrna Ahmed, the instructor, will again hold classes at her home this fall. Each class will have no more than five students and will meet once weekly for six weeks. Mrs. Ahmed, who holds a Masters in International Nutrition from Cornell University, has learned much of her Indian cooking techniques first-hand from her husband's family in India.

The course will give the participants a good groundwork in Indian cooking skills and a basic understanding of spices. A wide variety of dishes will be prepared including rich rice preparations, curried meats, Indian breads, curry accompaniments, vegetarian specialities, snack foods, and desserts. If you would like to find out more about Indian cooking call 924-2982. Classes will resume in late September.

Democrat Replies on County Government

No, indeed! That was the response this week from Mercer County's Democratic chairman, Richard Coffee, to proposals of his Republican counterpart, Harry Sayen, that bi partisan support would be a good idea for election of the nine commissioners that will work out a new form of government for Mercer County Assuming, of course, that the voters decide they want a commission to study county government.

A slate will be on the November ballot. Voters will be asked to choose nine. Mr. Coffee says he won't be one of those running. Deadline for filing — and anybody in the County is eligible who can get 200 signatures on a petition — is September 27.

"People should file unaffiliated and unobligated, if we want a true, un partisan study of county government," Mr. Coffee declared. "Democrats don't favor any 'deals' on a bi-partisan slate I would be very disappointed if groups pulled a power play and raised the money to support a slate."

By "groups," Mr. Coffee said he referred to organizations like the Chamber of Commerce, which Mr. Sayen had said he would approach, along with Common Cause and the League of Women Voters.

"The slate with the money and the backing could be elected, and this is unfair," Mr. Coffee continued, "after all, the Chamber is a business organization with special interests. Everyone should run on his own merits, unsponsored."

The Democratic county chairman supports reform. "I've been on the record as favoring it, before anyone knew what it was about," he commented. He said he preferred a "strong executive" plan which would be similar to a municipality's mayor and council form.

BOROUGH GOES CHINESE

For Festival. A Chinese - American Festival will be held the afternoon of Sunday, September 30, on the lawn outside Borough Hall. The guest of honor will be Professor Yang Chen-Ning, first Princeton scientist to receive the Nobel Prize in physics.

Dr. Yang received the prize in 1957 for research carried out during the years — 1950 to 1966 — when he was a member of the Institute for Advanced Study. He is now at the State University of New York.

During the two hours of the Festival — from 2:30 to 4:30 —there will be demonstrations of ballet-like "shadow-boxing" exercises and of Chinese calligraphy. Visitors will be able to use brush pens and ink stones to try a little calligraphy on their own, and will be invited to participate in the shadow boxing. There will also be informal classes in conversational Chinese.

Exhibits of Chinese arts and crafts, books, periodicals and posters will be on display. Refreshments will be served.

Princeton residents who have been recent visitors to China will be present to talk about their experiences and answer questions. Among those expected are Dr. M. L. Goldberger, Dr. James Liu, Dr. Jane Liu, Dr. P. C. Tan, Dr. Paul Sigmund, Ella Bone.

News Of The THEATRES

HERE'S "VERONA"

Barnes Loved It. "A bardic spree, a midsummer night's jest, a merriment of lovers, a gallimaufry of styles, and a gas." If you recognize the Clive Barnes style, you'll know he was probably writing about "Two Gentlemen of Verona" since that's coming up this weekend at McCarter as the theatre's first Broadway offering.

"Two Gentlemen" is a rock musical with music by Galt McDermot who wrote "Hair." It will open this Thursday and play Friday and Saturday, all at 8:30, with a Saturday matinee at 2:30 p.m. A special dress preview will be given for Princeton University students only.

POP, AND . . . .

. . . Rock, Folk, Jazz. A dozen or so pop-rock events will be given on the University campus over the fall season sponsored by McCarter Theatre. Tickets are now on sale at the McCarter box-office.

As a starter, Bonnie Raitt will appear in McCarter on Sunday, October 7 at 9 p.m., joined by Arthur "Big Boy" Crudup. She will be followed Friday, October 12 by the Strawbs, a new English folk-rock band making its second American tour. The Fabulous Rhinestones will be with them. This October 12 event will be in Alexander Hall.

Back to McCarter October 20 for the Roger McGuinn Band and singer - songwriter David Buskin. McGuinn was a founder of the Byrds, one of the most important musical groups of the past ten years.

"Lemmings," the National Lampoon magazine's off-Broadway revue will be at McCarter for three performances October 26-27, with shows each evening at 8:30 and a late show Saturday, October 27 at 11 p.m.

ALBEE IS FIRST

For Players. "Everything in the Garden," by Edward Albee, will be the first play of the season for Princeton Community Players, with production scheduled for the first two weeks in November.

Auditions will be held next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 24, 25 and 26 at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church.

Meanwhile, the Players are making plans for their Opening Season party this Sunday. It will be held from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Unitarian Church in the courtyard if the weather is fine, in the church lounge otherwise.

Anyone interested in joining the Players is welcome to attend. The full list of four 1973-74 plays will be announced at Sunday's party.

REGISTER. . .

For Creative Theatre. In person registration for classes offered by Creative Theatre Unlimited will be held this Thursday and Friday at 33 Mercer Street (Trinity Church). Students in grades one and two will be registered between 3 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. each day. Adults will be registered between 7-9 p.m. this Thursday only.

Interested potential students are invited to meet Barbara Padgett and discuss with her a course called "Arts Investigation Forum," based on ideas developed by Paul Baker of the Dallas (Tex.) Theatre Center. Barbara Padgett is a former student of Baker's.

The idea of the course is to help each student discover a creative center, and develop a belief in it. "The main focus is on developing creative people," in Mr. Baker's words. "The course brings the primary emphasis back to where each of us lives."

DANCE FACULTY GROWS

At Dance Co-op. Three professional dancers have joined the faculty of the new Dance Co-op. The Co-op has also announced that its classes will be held in the top floor banquet room of the Pine Brae Country Club, Route 518 one mile west of the 518-206 intersection.

The three new teachers are James May, Anna Paskevska Robinson and Dottie Fried. Mr. May, who performed for several years with the dance companies of Jose Limon, Anna Sokolow and Eliot Feld, now teaches at Princeton University. He will teach advanced modern dance at the Dance Co-op, using Limon technique.

Mrs. Robinson, who has performed with the Paris Opera Ballet, the Royal Ballet and the Western Theatre Ballet, will teach advanced ballet. Dottie Fried will give a jazz class in Luigi technique. Some dance experience is required, but the class will be geared to the level of those who enroll. Ms. Fried is a founder of the Manning-Fried Dance Company which will perform later this year in Princeton.

Information about the Co-op may be obtained by calling 921-8873, 921-3461 or 201-359-6889.

Carter" series this year.

The series will open October 1 with two showings (7 and 9:15 p.m.) of "Five Easy Pieces," the 1970 film starring Jack Nicholson. The film never played Princeton when it was released, so this is a regional premiere.

Other films from U.S. filmmakers will be "Moon walk One," a NASA - made documentary about the Apollo 11 flight and man's first moon landing; "When Legends Die," about the plight of the American Indian; "The King of Marvin Gardens," last year's work by the team that made "Five Easy Pieces"; "Bad Company" about a ragtail bunch of kids who cross the American west in Civil War times; "Wanda," a women's lib film directed by Barbara Loden, about a woman in Appalachia; and "BURN!" the Marlon Brando black revolution film, directd by the Italian Pontecorvo.

Great Britain will be represented by "The Ruling Class," with Peter O'Toole; "The Assassination of Trotsky," starring Richard Burton; and Canada by "Wedding in White," and "My Uncle Antoine."

India's Satyajit Ray will be represented by "Days and Nights in the Forest;" France's Truffaut by "Two English Girls"; Cuba by "Memories of Underdevelopment" and Switzerland by "La Salamandre."

AUDITIONS SCHEDULED

For Professional Artists. Auditions for professional artists in the fields of music, drama and dance will be held on Saturday at the Unitarian Church by the Young Audiences of Central New Jersey. Auditions will begin at 10:30 a.m. and will continue until all performers have been heard.

Young Audiences, a national non-profit educational organization, specializes in bringing the performing arts to school children from kindergarten through 12th grade. The central New Jersey chapter of the organization, recently formed, is now making contact with schools in Mercer, Somerset and Middlesex Counties, and has begun hooking accredited Young Audiences performers in those schools.

The auditions on Saturday, according to Mrs. Doris Allen of Princeton, a member of the board of directors of the new chapter, are being held to find new professional talent in the area. The successful performers at the Saturday auditions, she explained, will then be asked to perform before an audience of school children. "After that, they become accredited and we book them for performances arranged by the Young Audiences committee." Interested artists should call Mrs. Allen at 924-9406.

PLAYHOUSE

Blume In Love. A pleasant study of a man's love for his ex-wife that meanders too much. The film's top virtues are the performances of George Segal, Susan Anspach and Kris Kristofferson. Miss Anspach's hippie lover.

This comedy drama by Paul Mazursky, who wrote Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice, is a potentially fascinating study of emerging maturity and individuality but it is flawed by poor editing and Mazurky's inability to end scenes which go on forever. At first, "Blume" is sweet and moving; then Mazursky holds on so long that it curdles.

The basic plot is a familiar one: husband and wife get a divorce because their marriage has become too distant and complacent and then spend the rest of the film rediscovering their love and individuality.

This type of thing has been done in the past with such stars as Irene Dunne and Katharine Hepburn when it was treated rather frivolously. Now in these days of women's liberation, dramas about marriage are more interesting because marriage itself is much more precarious. In this respect, the film is much more revelant.

As the frustrated wife, Miss Anspach, seen mostly through fragmented encounters with her lovelorn ex, is the film's most interesting — and more neglected — character. But the breadth of her character is not allowed to develop. So while the film is tantalizing it falls short of being rewarding. (R)

GARDEN

O Lucky Man. Lindsay Anderson, director of "If," and Malcolm McDowell, star of "A Clockwork Orange," combine in this overwhelming study of a retelling of the Candide myth. McDowell yearns for all the popular success symbols but eventually learns that luck is all.

Depressing and a bit pretentious at times but also fascinating to watch; often very funny, and cunningly cast. One of the art films of the year.

The film grabs you, twists you and wrings you out so that when it's finished you only know that you've come through an inner storm and you don't really want to pick up the pieces until later. "O Lucky Man" attempts to sweep all experience away from man and let him start out afresh with something new and strange: the discovery of a new way of life through the past sum of human experience.

The plot is too complicated to detail. Suffice it to say that in the course of some bizarre experiences, McDowell becomes disenchanted with business life, the military, scientific endeavors, government and international intrigue, religion, good works and even the Golden Rule. The film demands that you open yourself to it but the rewards are great. It is seven minutes short of three hours long. (R)

NEW QUARTERS FOR QUEENSTOWN: The Queenstown Shop of Pennington has moved to a more spacious location, and David Hagen, one of the owners, is shown here working in the huge framing workshop he helped create.

IT'S NEW To Us

QUEENSTOWN SHOP MOVES

And Expands. Although Elizabeth and David Hagen entered the framing business only two years ago when they bought the Queenstown Shop in Pennington, business has grown to such an extent that this month the shop moved to the Old Mill Square where there is room for a new gallery and a workshop three times the size of the old one.

A delightful British couple from South Africa, the Hagens met at Rhodes University when Elizabeth was an art student. From there they travelled to Southern Rhodesia, where their three sons were born, London, and finally here four years ago.

Elizabeth entered the real estate business and soon discovered that George Koeppel was selling the Queenstown Shop. She had always felt that framing would be "a lovely thing to do," and so she and her husband, a management consultant, decided to purchase the business.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hagen are grateful for George Koeppel's training and the assistance of the Professional Picture Framer's Association, and feel that there should not be a mystique about framing techniques. They therefore share the teaching of a framing class at Princeton's Adult School, sell framing materials, and provide a chop service for moldings as most miter boxes do a poor job.

Needlepoint Framing. Elizabeth showed us their method of framing needlepoint. Instead of stretching it on a flat board, they place the work across stretchers which then just fit inside the frame. In this way, none of the knots or bumps on the back of the work can push through to the front. Another thing they are pleased with is a new seal press which can dry mount and flatten anything, — marvelous for framing prints or posters.

In two very quick weeks David Hagen and his oldest son constructed partitions, work tables and storage units, painted and put up the burlap and lighting. The result is a huge new workroom, and an attractive, well-lighted gallery area.

We loved the variety of styles reflected on the walls which include Batik hangings by Jerrilynn Polissar, oils by Anabell Axtmann and Evelyn Faherty, watercolors by Dorothy Bissel, detailed animal etchings by Dell Weller, serigraphs of tobacco workers by Rex Goreleigh and photographs by Ron Koepell.

In addition, there is a line of museum jewelry copied from originals, plant hangings made by Betty Parks with fibers from California, and the New York Graphics Society's prints of the world's famous paintings.

The Queenstown Shop is now located at Old Mill Square (across from the Pennington Market) in Pennington, and the hours are 10 to 5:30 Tuesday through Saturday.

COMBINING SEPARATES

At The Reynolds Shop. Separates that can be combined to make pantsuits are displayed together at the Reynolds Shop in Pennington, making it easy for the customer to see the possibilities. It is also perfect for the person who does not wear the same size top and bottom.

A favorite of ours was a corduroy suit by Austin Hill in stunning, rich colors pale blue, deep brown, or brick. blazer style jacket is $50. An blazer style jacket is $50. Another handsome suit in this season's popular Camel color is by Pendleton and has a shirt jacket with a tie waist, $50, and slacks, $28.

From a new company, the Reynolds Shop has a line for the contemporary, better known as the young woman in her late twenties or early thirties. It's nice to know that the manufacturers have not forgotten her.

This line is called Intuition, and includes separates and dresses. There is a brown tweed wool jacket with fake suede trim on the collar and pocket flaps, $54, which can be matched with flared pants, $30, or a front pleated skirt with suede trimmed pockets, $20. Then, we loved a camel shirtwaist with the collar, cuffs, and belt lined in a red calico print, $48.

Donald Davies Dresses. Among the dresses, we saw some lovely Donald Davies shirtwaists which are perfect for meetings or lunch and the sheer wool, which comes in soft plaids, is even handwashable, $64. Then by Kollection, we admired a beige shirtwaist with stitched front pleats that would go well with a blouse slipped under it. Or you can wear it with its own white turtleneck dickey, $46.

For fall golfing or the early warm days of paddle tennis, we noticed the culottes by Leon Levin. These short skirts have little shorts under them and are very comfortable for active wear. There is a blue glen plaid in polyester, $28, and a camel and grey plaid skirt in a wool and nylon blend, $30.

Then there is a large choice of slacks, blouses, sweaters, skirts — short and long, and even jewelry to complete any wardrobe. Some of our favorites were a long wrap skirt in a flat smooth /knit that comes in navy, red - orange, or a bright green, $40; a soft angora cable pullover sweater that has a high ribbing for a snug fit and comes in a pretty blue, pink or white, $22; and necklaces made from antique crystal and Lalique colored beads — one of a kind and most unusual, $15-$20.

The Reynolds Shop at 23 West Delawere Avenue, Pennington, is open from 9:30 to 5:30 Monday to Saturday, with evening hours on Thursday until 6:30.

MORE THAN MUSIC

At Beaumonts Store. Piano tuners for five generations and in Mercer County since 1898, the Beaumonts have embarked on their first venture of a retail store.

Wes Beaumont refers to his business as "the unusual music store", and indeed it is for with new and used instruments, paintings, rent-a-musician, and a theatre workshop, it reflects the varied interests of this family.

For years Mr. Beaumont has been purchasing, through his tuning business and at auctions, used pianos which he then repairs or rebuilds if necessary. His store has a selection of these, and because he knows that each piano is in excellent condition, he gives a five-year guarantee.

One of his objectives is to sell only quality instruments. "If people are not willing to pay for something good and get a good guarantee, I guess I'll go out of business." He therefore has selected only one new piano line, Gordon Laughead. This is a Michigan family business that is not well known, but Mr. Beaumont feels they make one of the best new instruments, comparable to a Baldwin.

However, Mr. Beaumont has not ignored the student who is not ready for a quality instrument. He therefore rents student guitars, $18 for three months. While he refuses to sell these, he will apply the rental towards the purchase of a better instrument when the student is ready.

French Horns, Oboes, Too. He also has about 30 other used instruments, such as oboes, flutes, clarinets and french horns which are perfect for students to either rent or buy. Whenever Mr. Beaumont tunes a piano, he asks the family if there are any other instruments in the house. Often there is one that a child used briefly while taking lessons, and he offers to buy it. They are all repaired, briefly used, and cost slightly more than half the price of a new instrument.

The store also offers piano, organ, guitar and harmonica lessons, with flute and clarinet to begin soon; sells sheet music for all instruments from rock to classical, including the Schirmer Library; repairs all instrument and sells music supplies.

That's Not All. Edward Earle runs an acting workshop there two evenings a week, 10 sessions for $50; and the Beaumonts will supply a musician and instrument for any type of music you want from a piano player to a full male glee club. With the exception of a glockenspiel player, request what you want and they'll find it.

Then exhibited on the walls are paintings by Val Gerischer and some enchanting lithographs from an old music book including illustrated sheet music, opera stars and one of the Metropolitan Opera's opening.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont have been active in local productions such as Princeton Community Players, Princeton Opera Association, Theatre Intime, and they are currently in "Night Watch" at the Clinton Music Hall, directed by Mr. Earle.

Beaumont's Music and Art is at the Glen Roc Shopping Center, on Scotch Road in Ewing Township (just south of the Mercer County Airport). The store is open from 10 until 5:30 Monday through Saturday, with Tuesday evening hours until 8.

GIVE YOUR HAIR A PHYSICAL CHECK-UP

DID YOU EVER THINK YOU MIGHT HAVE SICK HAIR?

Hair Analysis can determine the health and condition of your hair — it's like giving your hair a physical check-up.

Samples of your hair are taken and tested on a sensitive instrument called a Micro Gram Scale. Readings from this scale evaluate your hair's tensile strength and elasticity

Your hair is photomicrographed. From this photograph you can see the internal structure of your hair shaft.

Our salon's Hair Analysis program works in conjunction with RedKen Laboratories. Our trained cosmetologists study the corrective program recommended for your hair. They conduct the needed treatments and start your hair on the road to recovery.

ART In Princeton

THE EARLY FALL SCENE

At Gallery 100, Watercolor is often considered the most difficult of all paint mdia. It makes many demands of its users in the need for both spontaneity and fluidity of brushwork while requiring great control. Peculiarly, it has attracted many amateur and Sunday painters and many misguided serious painters, often with similar results.

Both the difficulties of the medium and the plethora of trite mediocrity that results makes the current Greta Greenfield show at Gallery 100 even more remarkable. Mrs. Greenfield displays a fine understanding of her medium and handles both traditional and original subject matter with great skill.

Paintings range in subject from floral studies through several different approaches to landscape to non-objective paintings. In all the work the artist's control over her medium is exhibited through fresh and fluid brushwork, color that sits softly on its surface and an approach that captures the essence of the subject without being weighted by unnecessary visual information.

Colors are rich muted tones, luminous in their translucent quality. Color is often complimented by judicious use of ink and flowing ink pigment.

Surfaces are varied by both paint and paper with effective use of the textures of varying handmade papers. This artist also displays a fine understanding of spatial relationships in well conceived compositions.

At The Art Confederation. "The Artist and His Model, Woodcuts by Wendell Brooks" are featured in this Kingston gallery. However, Mr. Brooks, an Assistant Professor of Art at Trenton State College, demonstrates a much wider range of skill and approach in this display than is described in the title.

Many woodcuts in both black and multi-color approaches display styles ranging from African primitive techniques to more sophisticated and contemporary methods. Large textural areas, in muted translucent tones, are the hall-mark of most of the woodcuts.

A few etchings are included. These prints demonstrate the work of an able and thoughtful printmaker. Multicolor and linear effects artfully blend with strong silhouette and dynamic movements. Great strength of composition is tempered by delicate linear effects.

At The State Museum. The State Museum has two new art displays running concurrently. In the main building, the featured exhibit is paintings and drawings by Everett Shinn, a member of the New York Realists (Ash Can School). This group of painters included John Sloan and Maurice Prendergast, among others, and created génre paintings in the early part of the century. Much influenced by the French impressionists, color and pattern reveal themselves in the often poetic studies of American life.

Pottery and Weaving by New Jersey Craftsmen Lore Lindenfel and Marion Levinston-Weiss are on view in the galleries surrounding the auditorium. The displayed pieces work well individually and in combination.

Art In Princeton

low-fired metal glazes contrast and compliments the richly hued hangings by Lore Lindenfield. Basically non-objective, colors and textures combine into forms that effctively create the essence of landscape without interfering with the integrity of the weaving.

Ms. Levinston-Weiss' ceramics divide into several distinct groups. White pottery, dependent on form and shadow, display one aspect of the ceramist's art. Quite different are the chalices, urns and other pieces.

These are elaborately decorated in luminous metallic glazes and are classical in feeling. The third grouping of pottery is white with strong black patterns.

At Gallery of Fine Art. A small collection of rare prints is on display at the Princeton gallery of Fine Art. Etchings and lithographs by Whistler, Corot, Renoir, Roualt and others are included, as well as Durer wood engravings.

The displayed prints, all of excellent quality, represent fine examples of each artist's style. Bucolic landscape, portraits, political commentary and religious motifs are among the many subjects on display.

At The Artisan. A new collection of pottery by Nonnie Barnes is featured. Pedestal forms, urns, platters and a coffee service are all created in earth tones with muted color accents.

Some relief is included with animal motifs such as goats and peacocks. The present collection included many patterned pieces with a few linear accents.

At The Loft: A new gallery on Alexander Street called The Loft has a melange of arts and crafts.

Paintings, drawings and graphics are combined with excellent ceramic pieces and creative weaving and macrame. Folk art and jewelry are also on display and for sale.

EXHIBIT OPENS SUNDAY

At Studio on Canal. Ayako Firsing, Princeton artist, will have her sole exhibit of paintings at the Studio-on-the-Canal opening with an outdoor showing on Sunday. Mrs. Firsing was born and educated in Tokyo where she was a Japanese literature major in college.

Her art studies have been with Rex Goreleigh, Ted Spawn and Hughie Lee-Smith. She has developed a high level of competence in the handling of oil and watercolors, with a penetrating understanding of the inherent characteristics of these media.

The exhibit will continue through October 7 from 2-4:30.

ART CLASSES OFFERED

By Ruth Sharon. The 18th year will begin at the Sharon Studio Monday. Classes will be offered for children 6-12 years old, with instruction in drawing, water colors, acrylic painting, plastics (mobiles & constructions), ceramics, sculpture, metal work, wood carving, wire sculpture, etc.

Mr. Ruth Sharon, who holds an M.A. degree in Arts and Crafts from N.Y.U. will be assisted by her daughter, Naomi, a student at Livingston College. Mrs. Sharon is the author of a two-volume set of arts and crafts books, in addition to the classes, she will be teaching a course in Art Therapy in New York. Registration closes this week. For more information please call 921-6156.

"Help Me Read!" — Volunteers Needed

A community wide program to help slow readers catch up to the other kids in school, will be sponsored this fall by the Committee for Racial Justice of the Princeton YWCA, and the Parent - Teacher Organization of Princeton High.

One - to - one tutoring by trained volunteers will be the method used. Men and women, grandmothers, retired grandfathers, working people, young adults — anyone may volunteer.

Training for tutoring students at Princeton High will be directed by Mrs. Carol Jacobs, learning disability teacher consultant. Training for volunteers who will tutor elementary pupds as well as high school students under the "Y" program, will be given by reading teachers.

Volunteers will be asked to meet at least twice a week with a child, probably for an hour at a time. A continuing relationship between student and tutor is regarded as essential.

Work with high school students will be done at PHS during school hours. In the YWCA's program, provision will be made to meet with children in evening and daytime, so that working people may be volunteers.

In announcing the new program, the YWCA points out that in various forums on racial justice, it has repeatedly been said that many children who get into trouble with the law have reading problems. The high school PTO observes that a high-school level student who doesn't read easily, is constantly confronted with failure because the school's whole curriculum is based on reading materials.

Information may be obtained by calling the high school, 924-5600, ext. 222, or the YWCA at 924-4825.

FUNDS ARE SOUGHT

For People's Yellow Pages. Financial support is being sought for the Princeton People's Yellow Pages, a new directory of area resources, programs, activities, and services, emphasizing the kinds of things not covered in existing publications.

"PPYP will be informative to both newcomers and long-time residents," says Helen Spiro, the project's coordinator. "We'll answer a wide range of questions about what is (and isn't) here, including the off-beat and ways to make Princeton living less expensive, more interesting.

For example, we'll tell where to get free English tutoring for foreign-born adults, how to join a rap group of adoptive parents, where to find free party supplies, cheap books, second - hand clothes, and the last copy of the New York Times at 2 p.m. on Sunday.

We'll list adult education programs at all levels and provide tips for starting a co-operative Victory Garden. Harried publicity chairmen, in particular, will appreciate the list of deadline dates for 16 area newspapers in the section on media.

"To avoid duplication of information already compiled elsewhere, we'll direct the reader to guides in-print, such as the county-wide child care directory or the numerous publications of the Council of Community Services.

After initial publicity, these valuable resources depend on word - of - mouth advertising. We'll help keep them in the public eye."

PPYP (no relation to the phone book) is staffed wholly by volunteers. It is modeled after the Whole Earth Catalog, Aleph, the "underground" guide to Princeton published by University students last spring, and the highly successful People's Yellow Pages of Boston, San Francisco, Philadelphia, and smaller communities across the country.

Initially, the non profit PPYP received a small grant from its sponsoring organization, the Peace Center, but now has to depend on donations to cover costs. "We've been collecting information since April and the bulk of the copy is ready," says Ms. Spiro, "but we need a printer and paper. With the financial support of the community we hope to serve we could distribute PPYP free.

Interested individuals, organizations, and businesses can contact Ms. Spiro at 924-2432 or at the PPYP office at the Peace Center, 924-6161.

STUART GETS GRANT

Of $15,000. Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, Princeton, New Jersey, has received a grant of $15,000 from The Charles E. Merrill Trust to be used as scholarship aid for students of the Roman Catholic faith.

In announcing the gift, Sister Judith Garson, Headmistress, expressed the gratitude of Stuart's faculty and administration for this grant.

She added that, "It comes at a time when rising costs on all sides make it increasingly difficult for parents to choose a religiously-oriented education for their children and, a time too, when independent schools are hard pressed to cover their own operating expenses." The new funds have been added to the Stuart Scholarship Fund and dispensed to girls in financial need.

The Charles E. Merrill Trust was established as a philanthropic institution in 1956 under the term of the will of Charles E. Merrill. Mr. Merrill, himself, planned the Trust in 1953, three years before his death.

He was the founder, in 1914, of the brokerage firm which eventually became Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith. He was also one of the founders of Safeway Stores and Family Circle magazine.

"That's IT"

The people who drive Porches feel the same as the people who make them: there is no other car.

Because performance and engineering come first.

Our concept is that of evolutionary change. Which is why each year the improvements we make may seem subtle to the uneducated eye. But to us they are the milestones along the way to our ultimate goal, the perfect car.

The 1973 Porsche 911 puts us a year closer.

It is a car both exhiliarating to drive and luxurious to own.

It is the words of one Porsche owner. "The Porsche Experience."

The experience begins the moment you enter the car and sink into the contours of the orthopedic bucket seats. You are surrounded by opulence found only in a true GT car.

All controls are functional and within easy sight and reach. Which is understandable, since they were so engineered.

And expected, since it is a Porsche.

Porsche handling is unlike that of any other car. It is quick, precise and superb. To drive a Porsche is to feel that driver and car are one and the same. You "think" of where you want the car to go.

Part of this experience is due to the 911's rear-engine design. A design we've stood by and steadily improved over the past 25 years.

The other part is the legendary Porsche engineering that places the Porsche in a class of its own in the automotive world.

This kind of engineering demands a total commitment to the idea Dr. Ferdinand Porsche had nearly 75 years ago. That a man should be able to transport himself along the road in an exquisite piece of machinery with the best possible combination of comfort and control.

It is an idea that does not allow one to change something for sake of cost or caprice, but only for sake of improvement.

That is it.

Bicycles, Dogs Don't Mix.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Bike paths and loose dogs do not go together. I would like to bicycle to work in town and I would like to feel that my children are safe to bike to school and to see their friends.

After recent unpleasant experiences with dogs which waylaid both my daughter and myself on separate occasions I feel reluctant to bicycle anywhere and my car is again contributing to the congestion and pollution in town.

I would like to suggest that consideration of the bike paths should go hand in hand with consideration of the problem of Princeton's roaming dogs in the hope that we can use those paths safely.

Pets Must Have Care.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Why are some people so stupid and inhumane?

On Saturday afternoon on the outskirts of Princeton, a man stopped a car, opened the door, dropped off a puppy and drove quickly away.

Fortunately for the animal this was witnessed by an alert and horrified 10 year old neighbor of mine so the dog was spared the agony of wandering for dear knows how long and/or being struck by a car on one of our busy thoroughfares.

It is interesting that the small terrier-type tan puppy was wearing a very new looking harness. I'm wondering whether it was put on for the occasion to make the outcast more appealing to a finder.

He also had a too fat tummy as though he had recently been fed to last for a while. These signs of care don't tie in very well with the fact that the puppy was very thirsty, covered with fleas and had some mats of dried material on his body.

If someone finds it impossible to keep a pet — or doesn't want to — it takes only a phone call to get help from the police or Mrs. Graves of S.A.V.E., who does such a remarkable job in these cases.

Domestic animals cannot fend for themselves, they must have care and medical attention. This does in a sense make them a luxury and this should be considered before assuming responsibility for a pet.

There would be fewer unwanted animals if owners could be persuaded to have them spayed when not wanted for breeding.

Support Animal Trap Bill.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In June 1971 Senator Birch Bayh introduced a bill dealing with the use of steel jaw or leg hold traps.

Over 12 million wild animals have died slow painful deaths of thirst, starvation, freezing, fear, or gangrene in those traps.

This bill was to stop the manufacture, sale, and use of leg hold or steel-jaw traps in the United States and overseas. This bill along with a companion bill put forth by Representative William S. Broomfield were both turned down by the committee.

Finally, similar legislation was put before Senate... again by Senator Bayh, and before the House of Representatives by Senator Glenn Anderson of California. But will these new Bills make it?

The Animal Protection Institute of America to which I belong and which I strongly support, is trying to see that these bill does get through. But, they need help. They need money desparately, which is why I'm writing. I hope that people who care will help by sending a tax deductable contribution to API PO Box 22505, Sacramento, California 95822 and will write to Senator Bayh in support of his bill.

Watergate Deserves Attention.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Although I may be especially sensitive as his most recent electoral opponent, I hope I am not alone in being appalled by Congressman Frelinghuysen's recent approving pronouncement that less than 1% of the respondents to his recent questionnaire consider Watergate and the full range of criminal activity associated with it a major national issue.

While they only occasionally prefer Democrats for public office, the people of our District live by the ethic of government under law, and faith that individual freedom will be preserved by political leaders who respect and enforce our tradition of shared and limited governmental power.

I am certain that a professional, nonpartisan survey would demonstrate that the faith and support of a solid majority of the citizens of our district in national leadership have been shattered by a regime that sponsored unlawful wiretapping, mail surveillance and burglary, that spawned and then sought to smother Watergate and that systematically shook down the corporate hierarchy of our country for millions of dollars of illegal campaign contributions.

By listing Watergate as the 10th of 10 items of possible priority interest (omitting altogether incidentally, mass transportation, tax reform, and race relations) in question 23 of his recent questionnaire, the Congressman loaded the dice in favor of the reply that he wanted.

It would surprise no one familiar with polling to learn that the order of priority public interest in the issues bore close resemblance to the order in which the Congressman listed them.

For reasons that elude even close observers of his behavior, Congressman Frelinghuysen has steadily treated Watergate as a trivial matter that the public should quickly forget. He has conspicuously not joined the forthright, independent leaders of his own party in Congress — personified by such disparate members as Senators Scott, Baker, Goldwater, Weicker and Case, and Congressman John Anderson of Illinois — in condemning the attitudes that led to Watergate, and in sponsoring the many measures of reform that Watergate makes urgent.

There is, of course, a mounting agenda of real national troubles only tangentially related to, or touched by Watergate. If the results of Mr. Frelinghuysen's questionnaire induce him to push hard for clear and more effective national policies on such issues of priority concern as rising prices, land use that reduces flooding, increasing street crime in suburbia and an anticipated shortage of heating fuel oil for homes, the questionnaire exercise will not have been the total sham suggested by its "findings" on Watergate.

It is not easy to raise enough money to send a choir of 83 students to Europe. To do so you must plan fund raising activities carefully and have them well publicized. Your help in publicizing the Princeton High School Choir fund raising activities was indispensible. Every member of the 1973 Choir and all of those who helped us thank you for your support.

as summer volunteers.

"Without your support," Medical Center Executive Vice President John W. Kauffman wrote the students, "our patients may have found their stay with us a little less bright."

The students, who contributed more than 3700 volunteer hours since June, served The Medical Center as patient couriers, information desk receptionists, coffee shop hostesses and admitting assistants.

More than half the student volunteers elected to spend their summer at Merwick, The Center's rehabilitation and extended care unit, where they assisted recuperating and aged patients.

Economic Help. "Economically," Mr. Kauffman wrote, "services provided by you and other volunteers represent a significant savings in the health care costs of our patients.

"Philosophically," he added, the presence of you and other young persons will leave a lasting, positive impression on all the patients and employees with whom you came in contact."

Added Mrs. Deborah Livingston, director of volunteer services at The Medical Center: "Our summer volunteers have given us every indication that students are finding a true sense of fulfillment by offering their time and their talents to those less fortunate than they." Similar positions for student volunteers, she said, will be available during the school year.

Cited for their summer service from this area were: Margie Basca, Alice Dentz, Debbi Harvey, Kim Mendenko, Beth Pedersen, Amy Pennington, Hopewell Valley High School; Suzanne Gould, Faith Dixon, Ruth Gershen, Jayne Schwah, Hun School; Pamela Cheeseman, Isabel McDonald, Dale Stannard, Susan Teeter, Lawrence High School; Jean Bianculli, Charlotte Cavanaugh, Arlene Croghan, Barbara Croghan, Joanne Ellis, Nancy Kline, Rosanne Kolbert, Debra Kozesnik, Debby Lemeshow, Patty McKenna, Jennifer Mach, Ann O'Brian, Christine Pavlovsky, Caroline Procaccini, Terry Rajter, Rosanne Sayles, Coleen Scratchard, Karen Settle, Montgomery High School; and Denise Gersten, Pam Smith, Notre Dame High School.

Bike Auction Oct. 6

The Township police department will auction off 36 recovered and unclaimed bicycles Saturday, October 6, at 10 a.m. at Township Hall.

The bikes may be inspected between 9 and 10 that day. Chief Frederick Porter said that some of them are in need of repair.

LECTURE SERIES SET

For Antique Lovers. "Adventures in Antiquity" is the title of a series of weekly lectures to begin October 3 at the YMCA bringing well known lecturers in seven areas of interest to antique lovers.

The subjects and lectures will include, "A Survey of Master Prints" by James Gregory and John Puckett of New Hope. Their talk will cover prints from the 15th through the beginning of the 19th century, highlighting the work of Durer, Rembrandt, Watteau, Boucher, Dembucourt, Hogarth and Rowlandson.

On Wednesday, October 10, Mr. and Mrs. F. Robert Michael will discuss "18 Century English and Continental Porcelain." On the 17th "Antique Furniture Preservation and Hints on Antique Deterioration" will be discussed by R. D. Richye.

On the 24th "Chinese Export Porcelain" will be the subject of an illustrated lecture by Mrs. Buster F. Greenberg.

On the 31st, Princton Area Colonial Architecture will be the topic of Mrs Sybil Goff's illustrated Lecture; on November 7, Elric Endersby will talk on "Colonial Fabrics" and the final session on November 14 will feature Mrs Sally Barton on "American Silver from the 17th through 19th century."

Series will be limited in number to provide ample opportunity for questions and an informal coffee break is planned to allow lecturers and participants meeting.

Down-to-Earth Notes

A TIME TO BE HEARD

Your Opinions Are Wanted. Of Sewers, Sullivan, SBRSA, SBMWA and YOU. Nobody but Victor Hugo has, to my knowledge, produced fascinating reading on the subject of sewers.

However the last two newsletters from the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association are thoroughly engrossing, not perhaps as great literature but from the standpoint of clarifying a complicated subject and emphasizing how urgent the intelligent involvement of area citizens is "at this pont in time!" A Regional sewer system is coming, no matter what; in the interests of economy, efficiency, orderly growth, environment and, last but far from least, our water supply, it is essential that the best possible plan be adopted

Local officials need to know how you, their constituents, feel; in order for you to feel, you must know what is going on. To this purpose, I will, without further preamble, quote from the Association newsletters

"In 1966 some parts of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds needed sewerage facilities. Septic systems weren't working well in Hopewell and Pennington Boroughs, and the Princeton Sewage Treatment Plant needed to be repaired or replaced. 26 municipalities joined in the State's first regional sewage feasibility study. The plan, too cumbersome to implement, nevertheless was the first to attempt to solve water pollution problems on a watershed basis.

"After the failure of the 1966 plan, Pennington and Hopewell Boroughs joined with the Princetons, Hopewell, and West Windsor Townships to form eventually the Stony Brook Regional Sewage Authority. A new feasibility study, completed in 1969, recommended a single sewage treatment plant to be built on the Millstone River just below Carnegie Lake. . .

"Engineering feasibility studies prepared to meet regulations of the mid-1960's had few answers for citizen questions about sewage facilities and water supply, land disposal of effluent, advanced waste water treatment, land use, woodland damage and infiltration. Forced by new Federal regulations to study the totality of things, Federal and State officials, the Sewage Authority, and environmental groups reached agreement in July 1972 upon issues to be studied in an environmental assessment of the Stony Brook project

"Unfortunately, the environmental assessment was seen by the Authority as an obstacle to be overcome rather than as an aid to find the best plan for the region. The assessment was tailored to support the original plan of a single plant at Princeton to serve the member municipalities. Environmental groups, citing contradictory recommendations and expressions of uncertainty in reports by subcontractors as well as adverse impacts, have expressed strong opposition to the recommended plan. So, the conflict goes on, costs rise, pollution goes unabated, needed housing is not started, and the document which was to answer questions has raised more issues than it has settled . . .

"The SBRSA has rejected a proposal by Commissioner Sullivan (of the N.J. Department of Environmental Protection) to solve the Stony Brook sewerage impasse and begin construction of a sewerage system almost immediately. The proposal of Mr. Sullivan will save one to three years, in the Association's view . . .

"He suggested that the proposed plant at Princeton be funded immediately and built to serve the Princetons, West Windsor and, in addition, portions of South Brunswick and Plainsboro townships. Additional funds would be given the Authority to complete design work on two plants to serve Pennington and Hopewell Boroughs and surrounding areas of Hopewell Township.

The Authority would continue to be responsible for the regions, the definition of regionalism would be met and water quality standards would be maintained. Commissioner Sullivan's plan would solve immediate problems; allow for reasonable growth and postpone construction of trunk lines through open country until planning for other services (especially water supplies) was complete. The cost of the Commissioner's proposal would be about $6 million less than the Authority's present plan . . .

"The Authority plan included trunk lines which cross extensive open lands to connect established residential areas and which are designed for a projected 2020 population . . . The state maintains that population growth will follow the trunk lines and that, in any case, the system will have an adverse impact on area water resources (not to mention other services) and that planning for these services should precede construction of trunk lines . . . Under Commissioner Sullivan's proposal . . . construction would begin quickly on downstream facilities and funds would be allocated for revision of upstream plans

"The member municipalities, with the possible exception of one, showed interest in the Commissioner's proposal on August 8. A second meeting was scheduled for September 11 between the Authority and state and federal officials. On September 6, however, Chairman Bixby denounced the state for taking no official action upon the Authority's plans, and the following day the Authority called off the September 11 meeting and asked Commissioner Sullivan to forward their original plans to EPA (the Federal Environmental Protection Agency) for consideration for funding . . .

"In effect, the SBRSA is asking the Commissioner to approve a plan which his staff says is not cost effective, which will create severe water supply problems, which will generate sprawl, which will remain steeped in controversy and which the Commissioner doesn't believe EPA will fund in any case. Significantly, Commissioner Sullivan has in recent public statements decried the state's lack of control over land use decisions which are outpacing water quality, water supply and air quality planning. His discussions with Authority members on August 8 indicate a keen sensitivity to the difference between spending public funds to solve existing and immediately foreseeable problems on the one hand and encouraging unplanned growth on the other. . .

"The Federal Water Quality Act was amended in 1972 to move the country away from the old intransigent engineering approach to water pollution control . . . New Federal guidelines to implement the 1972 amendments are being introduced continually with significant new regulations being imposed about every six months . . . The Authority is six months behind the regulations' and losing ground, in our judgment.

"We have made other judgments. In the summer of 1971 we judged that East Windsor could not proceed with plans to build a 5mgd treatment plan. In June of 1972 the State told East Windsor to change its plans. In 1971 we judged that the . . . Authority would have to evaluate environmental issues.

In February of 1972 Commissioner Sullivan advised the Authority to take such steps. In the fall of 1972 we advised Princeton officials that the question was not whether there would be building moratoriums but how long they would last . . . In January of this year we urged the Authority to hire additional management help . . . because "in all probability the SBRSA will be passed over for Federal and State funding this year because of its inability to respond to Federal and State guidelines." . . . Other authorities further down on the State funding priority list have received construction funds.

"In each of the above cases local officials or Authority members said we were wrong . . . Our judgment is based neither on optimism nor pessimism but upon a realistic assessment of requirements. In each case the Association has attempted to anticipate needs before they became problems. . .

"Commissioner Sullivan's proposal to the Authority is consistent with the merging concept of regionalism. It will solve some old problems quickly and permit the member municipalities to plan to prevent new ones from occurring . . . The persistent cry of "let's build it anyway" is an obstacle to a solution to the region's sewage problems . . . In our view it will take less time to arrive at the best plan for the particular conditions that prevail in the region than to attempt to push through a shortsighted plan."

This condensation does not attempt to cover the facts, figures and arguments in depth. It does attempt to sound an alert, to encourage citizens to study the situation, digest the information (available from the Watershed Association — 737-3735) and EXPRESS THEIR OPINIONS on this all important matter to local officials.

Environmental Office SOS

The office at 360 Nassau Street suffered a real loss with the graduation of Sara Jane Lithgow and Meg Lohenstine, the faithful tenders of its environmental bulletin board, and is in dire need of successors for the job

Any volunteers will be happily welcomed. Call 924-3141 if you would like to take on this important service

The office could also use in fact, desperately needs —more filing cabinets. If you have one lying around, it can be put to good use housing the office's burgeoning files.

OLD HOMES ON TOUR

In Lawrenceville on September 29, Pre Revolutionary houber 29. Pre-Revolutionary houses of "old Lawrenceville" will be opened for an anniversary house tour on Saturday, September 29, from 10 to 3 The Tour will be sponsored by the Presbyterian Church of Lawrenceville as an observance of its 275th year.

Early members of the Church (formerly the Maidenhead Church) built some of the original sections of these houses long before the small village of Maidenhead changed its name to Lawrenceville in 1816.

The Church and the five houses on the Tour are listed and described in the book, "Old Lawrenceville, Early Houses and People," by Donald H Tyler, Lawrenceville historian.

"Old Brick", whcih stands in the middle of the Lawrenceville School's golf course, is the oldest house in the Lawrenceville area. It was the home of pioneer Ralph Hunt who bought the land in 1694 and built the original section of the house in 1706. The house was purchased by Henry Mershon in 1755 and then inherited by successive generations of the Mershon family until it was sold to the Lawrenceville School in 1892.

The Cranstoun House, built in about 1760 near the King's Highway, has many noteworthy features. An eight-and-a-half foot fireplace in the south wall is one of eight fireplaces in the house There are many original windowpanes, wide floor boards and interior walls made of planks. The current owners are Mr. and Mrs Kenneth J Dawes, Jr.

Built in 1720. The Pierson Homestead on Cold Soil Road, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. n,ow the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Hautau, was built in four sections. The oldest section (built about 1720) was a typical one room primitive home which had narrow stairs to a room above. Set in the north wall of this "keeping room" is a 'large walk-in fireplace with bake oven and warming shelf.

The Rouse Homestead, now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller, appears on a 1777 military map and is recognized as one of the very old houses in the Vlilage. There are two-foot-thick walls built of roughly laid field stone, wide floor boards and windows and panes of varying sizes.

The "newest" house on the Tour is owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Hardt and was built on Main Street in the first half of the 19th century It was designed (and perhaps built) by Charles Steadman and has a number of details and decorations which are typical of his designs. There are many old batten and panelled doors, and a tiny spiral staircase to the right of the dining room fireplace.

There will be demonstrations of colonial crafts in the Youth Center of the Church and light refreshments will be served from 11 to 2.

Tickets will be available prior to September 29 at the Church Office, 2688 Main Street and at the Lawrence

RUMMAGE SALE SET

To Benefit Medical Center.

All proceeds from the annual fall rummage sale, set for October 2 and 3 this year, sponsored by the Auxiliary, will go to the Princeton Medical Center.

It is hoped that the net from this year's semi-annual sales will help to pay off completely the $15,000 remaining of the larger pledge made by the Hospital Aid Committee several years ago.

All former Committee members and friends are urged to give whatever time they can, and a plea has gone out for other volunteers as well. Call Mrs. Livingston's volunteer office at the Medical Center, 921-7700.

Donations of articles for the sale may be left at the Italian-American Sportsmens Club, Terhune Road, either on Sunday afternoon, September 30 until 5, or Monday, October 1 between 9 and 5, when Mrs C. Dickey Dyer and Mrs. Burton Weisbecker are in charge of receiving.

Clothing should be [illegible] and in good condition.

Call Mrs. Rushe[illegible] (201) 359-5040 or Mrs. Britt 921-6386 for pick up of donations ahead of time. If you have heavy furniture to give, please pre-arrange for Mrs. Mellinger (924-0292) to pick up October 1. The 14 selling departments and their chairmen are:

Mrs. Arthur Szathmary, books; Mrs. R. F. Dawson and Mrs. Herbert B. Davison, bric-a-brac; Mrs. Charles Helms and Miss Helen Hamilton, children's clothing; Mrs. Alfred Rozas and Mrs. Joseph Sabatella, counter clothes; Mrs. Walter Hall and Mrs. W. P. Knowles, draperies;

Also, Mrs. Alan Frank and Mrs. James Severson, furniture, Mrs. Edward Kopp and Mrs. James Reed, hats, bags and belts; Mrs. Albert Staves and Mrs. Elmer Chase, jewelry; Miss Edith Richards, kitchen; Mrs. Lawrence Broderick, men's clothing; Mrs. Jordan Young and Mrs. John B. Nelson, shoes; Mrs. Joseph Frazell and Mrs. Marshall Sitting, small appliances; Mrs. Owen Peek and Mrs. J. J. Opperman, toys; and Mrs. Henry [illegible]n and Mrs. Roger Edwards, women's clothing.

Of special interest is the appearance of "small appliances" as a new department. Testing equipment is available. Large kitchen or laundry appliances are not accepted. However, the sale will accept television sets, if they are in working order, and donors deliver them.

NEW DIRECTOR NAMED

For Nursery School. Mrs. Jean Bosley has been appointed Director of The Princeton Nursery School, Mrs. William Sword, president, has announced.

"Everyone agreed that it would be difficult to have someone follow Miss Eve Miller who had headed the school for over 37 years," said Mrs. Sword, "but the choice of Jean Bosley was ideal. She worked very closely with Miss Miller for 18 years as a teacher and was, herself, a student of the school when she was very young."

Mrs. Bosley is a lifetime resident and native of Princeton. She graduated from Princeton High School, attended Newark State College majoring in Early Childhood Education and is presently at Trenton State College majoring in Elementary Education.

Her three children, also former Princeton Nursery School students, are Valerie 16, Kari 10 and Robert, Jr. 5. Mr. Bosley is employed by American Cyanamid.

Mrs. Jean Bosley

The Princeton Nursery School was founded in 1929. It has 40 children presently enrolled and has "that perpetual waiting list of 20 or more" who just can't fit into the present building space.

LEARN AT ADULT SCHOOL

Register This Thursday. An innovation in language teaching at the Princeton Adult School will be a highlight of the fall semester. Two intensive language courses, each meeting twice a week, will be offered for beginning students in French and Italian. New this year, these courses will concentrate on giving a speaking knowledge as well as a reading knowledge of the languages.

French will be taught by Isabelle Nagniski and Italian by Frank Soda. The classes will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays for two hours, from 8-9:55 p.m. and the fee for each will be $12.

The fall term of the Princeton Adult School will begin Tuesday, October 2, and continue until Thursday, December 13. All other classes will meet only once a week.

Languages. Also included in the fall curriculum will be 13 other language courses, including three courses in English for speakers of other languages. A more conventional elementary French course will be given by Mrs. Herman Archer. German I will be taught by Herbert O. Hagans of the Princeton High School faculty, and German II by Neal Chandler, a Princeton University doctoral candidate.

Italian I will be under the direction of Mrs. Paula Bielloch, of Stuart Country Day School and Italian II under Paul Cucchi of Princeton University. Russian I will be taught by Mrs. Luba Kowalski of Douglass College, and the instructor of Russian II will be Danail Skvir of Princeton Day School. Spanish I and II will be taught by Manuel Morales of Princeton High School and Marcelino Cuesta, of Princeton Day School.

All these courses which will meet for two hours every Thursday evening will carry a fee of $22.50. A French Review course given by G. V. Asfar also on Thursdays will be $23.00.

Including English. The three courses in English for speakers of other languages are called Basic English (I), taught by Mrs. Anita Beck; Low Intermediate (English II), with Mrs. Katherine Miller, and High Intermediate - Advanced (English III) with Mrs. Elizabeth Shanefield. The fee for these courses is $20.50. Students who are considering these courses should talk with the instructors on Registration Night, this Thursday, between 8 and 9:30 p.m. at Princeton High School.

Music. Musical offerings at the Princeton Adult School include the usual courses in folk guitar, all on Thursday nights, with two courses for beginners, one for intermediate level, and one for advanced players. The courses are taught by Carolyn and Joel Bacher, and the fee for each is $18. Intermediate students should confer with the instructors at the Open House on Registration Night. Advanced Guitar is open to those who have completed the Intermediate level.

Jennifer Lehmann will again teach a class in Intermediate recorder. Students for this class should know the standard fingerings over two octaves, and soprano recorder players should own and play at least one other size instrument. Students will be required to bring their own recorders and music stands, and to buy approximately $3 worth of music during the term. The fee for this course, which meets for two hours on Tuesday nights, is $30.50.

A class in folk dancing taught by Jerry Kaplan, will meet on Thursday nights for two hours in the girl's gym, Princeton High School. This course is designed for beginning and intermediate dancers, and will include dances from Greece, Israel, the Balkans, Poland, Turkey, Russia and Armenia. The fee is $22.50 or $38.00 for a couple.

A workshop in modern dance, called Creative Movement, will meet on Tuesday nights, also in the girl's gym. Pat Cline will be the teacher. This group will emphasize alignment and coordination, breathing and relaxation, flexibility and toning. Students will work in casual clothes and bare feet. The fee is $20.50.

And Chess. Professor Lawrence Lipking of the English Department of Princeton University, will lead a class in the study of chess, a course designed to increase appreciation of the game as well as skill in playing it. Every student will need chess set and board. The course will meet for two hours on Tuesday evenings and will cost $20.50.

Two courses in tennis for beginners will be given, as in previous years, by William Humes, tennis coach of Princeton High School. They will both be held on Thursday evenings, one at 8 p.m., the other at 9 p.m. Students will need their own racquets and sneakers, and each student must have a can of new tennis balls. The fee for this course is $18.

A practical one-term refresher course in shorthand will be given for two hours every Tuesday night by Mary Perpetua of the Princeton High School faculty. The fee for this course is $18.00.

On Thursday nights, Mrs. Perpetua will teach two one-hour courses in typing, for new students as well as for those needing a refresher. The first course will meet at 8 p.m., the second at 9 p.m., and the fee for each will be $18.00.

Vocational Help. A course for food service workers, which is part III of a special course, is officially designed to prepare for advancement, students who are already working in institutional food service departments. It will also prepare them for membership in the Hospital and Institutional Food Sservice Society. The certificate requires 90 hours study. This fall term course will complete the requirements for those students who took the course last year, but it is also designed for new students to enter at any semester break.

The course will be taught by Sandra Neff, a registered dietitian, and will be given on both Tuesday and Thursday nights, for two hours each night. The cost will be $33.00.

The high school equivalency program on Thursday nights, offers Math at 8 p.m. and English at 9 p.m., at $10 for each course, except to students 20 years of age and under, for whom it is free. This program prepares students for the N.J. high school equivalency certificate.

Registration for Adult School courses may be made by mail, or at Princeton High School this Thursday, Sept. 13, between 4 and 6 p.m. or during Open House, when instructors will be present, between 8 and 9.30 p.m.

DEADLINE NEARS

For Voter Registration. The League of Women Voters of the Princeton Area reminds voters that Thursday, September 27, is the last day to register for the November election.

In order to register, you must be a U.S. citizen, 18 years old by November 6th, and a resident of the district in which you expect to vote. Students in New Jersey have the option to choose between their home residence and their college residence as their voting address.

You must re-register if you have changed your name, if you have not voted for four years, or if you have changed your residence. If you move within the same county, notify the County Board of Elections or your Municipal Clerk by mail. If you move to another county, you must re-register in person.

You may be registered at home if you are chronically or incurably ill, or totally incapacitated. Send a written application, plus a physician's affidavit, to the County Board of Elections. In Mercer County, the address is 640 South Broad St., Trenton. If you are unable to sign, you may make your mark.

Mobile registration will take place at the Magie and Hibben Apts., Faculty Road, on September 19th, from 6 to 9 p.m.

Evening registration will be held by all Municipal Clerks on Thursday, September 20, Friday, September 21, and Monday, September 24, thru Thursday, September 27. The offices will be open on those dates from 6:30 to 9 as well as during regular daytime hours.

If you have a question about registering or voting, call the Princeton Township Clerk at 924-5749, the Princeton Borough Clerk at 924-3119, the West Windsor Twon Hall at 799-0619, or the League of Women Voters in Trenton at 394-3303.

WORKSHOPS PLANNED

By Flight Two. Flight Two announced that several workshops are being arranged through its facilities at 175 Nassau Street.

Flight Two workshop and instruction programs are unusual in that they all emphasize self direction by their memberships. This fall's programs include: Beginning Banjo, taught by Doug Craig; Guitar Boot-Camp, taught by Barry Peterson, founder and director of Trinidad Music Workshop; Underground Literary Magazine, taught by Kathleen Raven, poet, and former business manager of The Berkeley Poets' Cooperative.

All workshops will have limited enrollments and will range from 10 to 14 weeks duration. For schedule of times, fees and meeting places, call Flight Two, 924-4992, or come to its offices.

Flight Two is also able to refer interested persons to the Creative Theatre Drama Workshops, or to Dick Wilshaw's Drum Instruction in Mercerville.

THREE CLASSES ADDED

By YWCA. The Princeton YWCA has added three classes not included in its brochure.

There will be two Red Cross lifesaving courses: senior lifesaving for women on Tuesdays 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and junior lifesaving for girls 10:30 to noon on Saturdays.

The cost is 8.50 per course. The third course is reading readiness, in which girls 3 to 5 years old will develop background skills necessary for

CHAPIN SCHOOL OPENS

With Increased Enrollment. The Chapin School has opened for its 42nd year with an increased enrollment of 175 boys and girls for the kindergarten through the eighth grade.

During the summer months, many improvements were made to the school's facilities including extensive landscaping and a new parking lot.

Mrs. Harrison Young, Headmistress, reports the addition of several faculty members as well as a newly-created position of assistant headmistress. This position has been filled by Mrs. Gaylord Kanavel of Yardley, Penna., formerly a fifth grade teacher for four years and the Head of the Middle School.

Returning to Chapin to teach one section of the fourth grade will be Mrs. Sanford Roesser of Pennington. The other section of the fourth grade will have Mrs. Quian McCord of Lawrenceville as its teacher. She comes to Chapin from the Maumee Valley Country Day School of Toledo, Ohio, where she taught for seven years.

Teaching one section of the fifth grade will be Mr. George Grieco of Morrisville, Penna., formerly a fifth grade teacher in Bristol, R.I.

Another addition to the middle school faculty will be Miss Linda McCall of Plainsboro, who will be responsible for one of the sixth grades. Her experience includes several years of teaching in Brazil and Hills borough

Mrs. Grenville Gooder is joining the Upper School as an English teacher for grades seven and eight. She earned a Masters degree in Elementary Guidance from Columbia Teachers College and has been a counselor at the Valley Road School, Princeton.

Another resident of Princeton, Mrs. Norman Edelman, will be working as a supplementary teacher with small groups of children needing special developmental learning instruction in reading, math, and spelling. A former member of the staff at the Wordsworth Academy in Philadelphia, she has had wide experience in this area.

INTERESTED IN SCOUTING?

You Can Help. The Princeton Girl Scout Association is looking for volunteers interested in working with girls from 7 to 17. Those who would like to assist in the program should call Mrs. David Gedney, 921-2582.

SCHLUTER NAMES TWO

To Head "Issues" Committee. Senator William Schluter, Republican candidate for re-election in the 14th district, has announced the appointment of members of CIVIC, his campaign "issues" committee.

CIVIC stands for Campaign Issues Verification and Investigation Committee. Named as co-chairmen are Mrs. Barbara Smoyer, Princeton Township committeewoman, and Raymond Drake, Clinton attorney.

The newly apportioned 14th district includes all of Hunterdon County except Readington Township, six municipalities in Mercer (Ewing, Penaington, Hopewell Borough and Township, Princeton Borough and Township), five municipalities in Morris (Washington, Mt. Olive, Roxbury, Netcong, Mt. Arlington), and Plainsboro and Cranbury Townships in Middlesex. Running as team-mates with Sen. Schluter are incumbent Assemblymen Walter Foran and Kal Weidel.

In addition to the co-chairmen, the following Schluter appointments have been made to CIVIC: Mercer — Burton Peskin, former Princeton magistrate and committeeman; Charles Roll, president of Political Surveys and Analyses, Inc.; William Henn, Ewing Township committeeman; Josephine Hall of Princeton; Charles Delchey, Hopewell Township attorney; Thomas Southerland, environmentalist and Princeton faculty member.

IF YOU'RE FLABBY . . .

Fitness Course Offered. A two-hour Saturday morning course in physical fitness is being offered this fall in the gymnasium of Mercer County Community College by MCCC's department of physical education.

Classes begin at 10 a.m. Activities like volleyball, basketball, running or swimming are assigned according to the individual's needs by Susan Stephans, a member of the MCCC physical education department, and instructor for the course. The Royal Canadian Air Force Exercise Plans will be the text.

Cost is $30 for 15 weeks. Information may be obtained at 586-4800, ext. 227.

HEADQUARTERS OPENED

For Anne Martindell. Former New Jersey Governor Richard Hughes was the featured speaker Sunday afternoon at aa open house marking the opening of the Anne Martindell for Senate Headquarters located at 242 Nassau Street.

Mrs. Martindell, who is running for State Senate in the 14th District, introduced Gov. Hughes and former Gov. and Mrs. Robert B. Meyner.

What has medicine been doing in the twentieth century! Practically everything! Insulin for treating diabetes, adrenalin for heart action, vitamins in nutrition, the use of antibiotics: these are just a few of the advances for which we may thank the medicine of the twentieth century. Research is perhaps our most important advance. The fact that there are research centers throughout the country devoted to the control of disease can ultimately make our lives safer and easier..

PEOPLE
In The News

Marine PFC James A. Keeoan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Keenan III of Princeton is participating in Caribbean training operations with the Second Service Battalion, Second Marine Division.

Jack Petrone Sr., 137 Valley Road, is one of seven men in the United States honored as a Pop Warner All-American Lawman for his dedication to profession and youth. This is the third year that the Pop Warner Junior League Football organization has saluted men of the law who also serve the youth of their community. A sergeant on the Township police force, Mr. Petrone has served from coach to commissioner for football and baseball youth organizations in Princeton.

Eric J. Y. Scott, 277 Nassau Street, was honored to have a premier performance of his "Elegy for Claude and Catrine" at the composers' conference held at Johnson State College, Johnson, Vt. August 15. The piece is written for five percussionists including piano. It was performed by Phyllis Perason, Marta Ptaszynska, Zita Carno, and Rolv Yttrehus on percussion and Robert Miller, piano. Efrain Guigui conducted.

Marine PFC William Nathan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lourd Nathan of 32 Witherspoon Lane, was promoted to his present rank while serving at the Marine Corps Base on Okinawa.

The 1974- '75 edition of "Who's Who of American Women" will include an entry on Dr. Ruth E. Fraok, 945 Stuart Road. Dr. Frank, an administrator at Bucks County Community College, is director of the executive board of the Middle Atlantic Association of Junior and Community Colleges. Her daughter Erica is a seventh-grade student at Princeton Day School.

Six residents of the Princeton area, drawn from the fields of business, politics and journalism, have been chosen Woodrow Wilson Senior Fellows by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, 32 Nassau.

The six are W. Walton Butterworth, former ambassador to Canada; Clifford Goldman of Titusville, former acting director of the Hackensack Meadowlands Development Commission; Emmet John Hughes, journalist; Karl M. Light, real estate broker and actor; Henry H. Patton of Skillman, financier and former vice-president of Deltec Panamerica and Fraok E. Taplio, chairman of the board of Scurry-Rainbow Oil Ltd. and director of North American Coal Corporation.

Under a million-dollar grant from the Lilly Endowment of Indianapolis, the Senior Fellows will spend a week or more on various private liberal arts college campuses during the coming academic year. The aim is to expose students to representatives of "the establishment," in the words of Hans Rosenhaupt, president of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, and "promote greater understanding between the academic community and the outer world."

At the invitation of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry, Dr. Arthur Fontijn, Head of the Reaction Kinetics Group at AeroChem Research Laboratories, Inc. in Princeton, gave a paper last week at the symposium on plasma chemistry at the University of Kiel in Germany. Dr. Fontijn, an internationally noted authority on chemi-ionization kinetics, brought his colleagues up to date on the status of the filed.

Dr. Fontijn, whose home is at 168 Mountain Avenue, is the author of numerous articles and chapters in scholarly journals and books. He is currently Chairman-Elect of the Princton Section of the American Chemical Society.

Former Borough Chief Peter J. McCrobao, 278 Hamilton Avenue, who stepped down last August 1 after a 37-year career as a Borough police officer, has a new job. Since April, he has been working for the state, Division of Criminal Justice, Police Training Commission, as an assistant administrative analyst. The Commission's office is in Newark.

Former Chief McCrohan, in his new position, surveys small municipal police departments with other members of the commission's staff.

W. Harry Sayen, IV, 167 Edgerstoune Road, Mercer County Republican chairman, has been approved by the State Senate for a seat on the Rutgers University Board of Governors.

He succeeds Archibald S. Alexander Sr. of Princeton who has to step down this year after serving two terms on the board. Mr. Alexander is chairman of the board.

Marine Lance Corporal Jack W. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Moore of 25 E. Hale St., Pennington, was promoted to his present rank while serving with the Marine Corps Base at Camp Lejuene, North Carolina.

MUSIC In Princeton

LIKE CHAMBER MUSIC?

Concerts Set. Another season of chamber music concerts will be given by the music department of Princeton University in 10 McCosh Hall beginning Thursday, October 18 at 8:30 p.m. The series consists of four concerts, three of them "Music from Marlboro" — October 18, March 6, April 3 — and a concert on February 6 by the group known as "Speculum Musicae" — an ensemble of musicians totally committed to the performance of music of the 20th century.

"Music from Marlboro" concerts present masterpieces of the chamber music repertoire, performed by artists who prepare these programs during the summer at the Marlboro Music Festival in Vermont. Their first program on October 18th will consist of Boccherini's String Quartet, Opus 39; Brahms' String Quintet, Opus 111, and Schumann's Piano Quintet, Opus 44.

Subscriptions are $12.00, students $7.00. Single tickets will be sold beginning with the first concert, at $4.00 and $2.00, respectively. For mail orders, send a check — made out to "Princeton University Music Department"—and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Concert Office, Woolworth Center, Princeton University, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

RECITAL PLANNED

For Cello and Piano. Claudia Stoy and Judith Elsesser will present a program of works for cello and piano on Saturday at 8 p.m. at The Present Day Club.

Miss Elsesser is a student at Mannes College of Music and studies piano with Lucille Greene. Mrs. Stoy has studied cello with Orlando Cole in Philadelphia and Jean Schneider Goberman of New York City and is Principal Cellist in the Mannes College of Music orchestra in New York City. She is a graduate of Princeton High School, 1970, where she was a member of the orchestra, choir and Madrigal Singers. The concert is open to the public.

THE EXCEPTIONAL CHILD

Special Class Planned. Music for the exceptional child — the one with problems or handicaps of various kinds — will be offered this fall by the Princeton Piano Group.

The class, which will meet on Saturdays, will be taught by Margaret Harrison who has had wide experience in working with deaf, handicapped and exceptional children. She plans to use music improvisation, sounds, beats, body rhythms and music games. Keyboard introduction will be determined on an individual basis.

Two other new classes have been scheduled by the Princeton Piano Group. The "Pre-piano workshop" will also explore internal rhythms and beats, helping the child to distinguish between "slow" and "fast," bass and treble, and up and down on a keyboard. Teachers find that these concepts are sometimes difficult for a young child to grasp.

"Piano Classes for Adults" is the third new offering by the Group. It will be given by Doris Allen, who is the founder and head of the Princeton Piano Group. A former member of the staff of the New School for Music Study in Princeton, she developed while at the school a new approach for beginning adult students.

Information on all three classes may be obtained by calling 924-9406.

3 CONCERTS PLANNED

For Jewish Center Series. The well-known piano-violin duo, Ruth and Jamie Laredo, will open the Trenton Jewish Community Center's annual concert series this Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the center on Lower Ferry Road in Trenton.

On Saturday, November 10, the brilliant young American cellist Leslie Parnas will be heard in a recital of works for cello and piano.

The series will conclude with a program featuring Lois Shaffer, the well-known Trenton pianist, Jayn Rosenfeld, the gifted young flutist from Princeton and a string ensemble from New York.

Jaime Laredo was the youngest prize winner, at age 17, in the Queen Elizabeth competition in Belgium. He has since performed throughout the United States, Europe and South America in recital and with major orchestras. He is now the violinist of the Lincoln Center Chamber Music Society in New York.

His wife, Ruth, is especially known for her performances and recordings of the works of Scriabin and Ravel. She has been invited to tour Japan this year.

Lois Shaffer has performed frequently here and in other cities in chamber recitals and with symphony orchestras, notably in the JCC series. She has studied piano in Chicago and at the Julliard School of Music.

Jayn Rosenfeld has been heard in many concerts and music festivals throughout the United States. She has been first flutist for the American Symphony Orchestra under Leopold Stokowski, first flutist with the Princeton Chamber Orchestra, and at the Grand Teton Music Festival.

Tickets may be ordered by phone from the Jewish Center. As in the past, all con-

There are two kinds of Yellow Pages users. One relies on the book to locate a specific advertiser. The other doesn't care who he deals with. He's looking for a particular product or service and will probably go wherever he has to to get it.

That's why, if you're an authorized sales or service outlet, or handle a nationally known and advertised brand, let your customers know it. One way is to say so in your Yellow Pages display ad. Another is to tie in locally through a bold face listing under a national trademark heading. This way, when national advertisers refer their customers to the nearest dealer listed in the Yellow Pages, they will be sure to find you.

Talk to our Yellow Pages representatives about developing sales-getting advertising for you. They know why people use the Yellow Pages, and why a potential customer trades with one advertiser rather than his competitor. So call today—before the new telephone directories come out.

Which were the greatest pro football teams of all-time!... Here's the opinion of one national sports news service... They pick the 1962 Green Bay Packers (with Bart Starr, Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor) . . . The 1940 Chicago Bears (who won the championship game 73-0). The 1958 Baltimore Colts (with Johnny Unitas and Lenny Moore). And the 1950 Cleveland Browns (with Otto Graham and Marion Motley).

It's a little known fact that when football started in the last century, the football itself was round, like a soccer ball or basketball. It was gradually changed to make it easier to pass when passing became legal in this century. The final change came in 1932 when the ball was streamlined to its present shape.

Did you know that a woman once coached a major college football team, long before the women's lib movement. At Yale, their famous coach Walter Camp was ill one season in the 1880s and was unable to attend practices or games. His wife went to all the practices and games for him and actually coached the Yale football team that year.

Tough Football Opener for PHS on Saturday

Saturday morning at 11, the Princeton High School football team will begin its 1973 season against visiting Hamilton — a team that has dominated football in Mercer County for the past four years.

"It's going to be a tough game," acknowledged PHS coach Dick Wood. Hamilton, he said, may not have the speed and the power it had on offense last year, but he added that Hornet coach Bill McEvoy always does a good job with the material he has.

"I don't know who he'll start on offense but I can guarantee one thing; they won't be poor," said Wood. Since a recent scrimmage with Howell reveals that the PHS defense is ahead of the offense, the game may shape up as a defensive battle.

A win over Hamilton could boost the Little Tigers sky high. There is no question it is a key contest for both schools. And adding spice to every game between county teams this fall is that the new season marks the first year for an official Mercer County League.

Starting PHS Lineup. Wood announced that he would go with this offensive lineup: Richard Warfield and Mike Diamond, ends; Angelo Arcaro and Dave Harwood, tackles; Guy Mendelson and Jeff Drummond, guards, John Figueroa, center; John Mooney, quarterback; Bob Zinsmeister and Ron Campbell, halfbacks; Jack Bayer, fullback.

Is Hamilton on the decline? In the past four years, Hamilton has spread-eagled its foes, winning 30 of 36 games and tying one — the latter was a 17-17 deadlock with the Little Tigers three years ago. Last year it was 9-0. It defeated PHS 27-7 and the year before, 37-0.

So the Little Tigers want to stop the Hornets badly. And there are surface indications they can this year. Gone is Doug Burnett, the beefy, streak of light who ripped through the PHS squad last year for 191 yards and three touchdowns.

Gone, in fact, is the entire Hamilton backfield. In fact, the entire offense. For the first time in its school history, according to McEvoy, Hamilton graduated an entire senior team. Any thoughts, however, that PHS would have it easy were tempered by the Howell scrimmage which Wood described as a "stalemate."

"We didn't do as well as I hoped we would," said Wood. "The defense showed best for both teams." There were no touchdowns.

On offense, PHS was guilty of mistakes and errors, of missing blocking assignments. The passing was ragged. Until the offense can get it together, the defense is going to have to buy time against Hamilton.

The Defense. Jim Beachell, Wood's chief assistant and a former quarterback for PHS under its old single wing, handles the defense.

In 1970 when Beachell first installed his pro-type defense (four men on the line with four linebackers up close is the basic formation) PHS performed well on defense, limiting the opposition to 11 points a game. In '71, the defense along with every phase of the Little Tiger game collapsed as the Blue and White failed to win a single game.

Last season, when Wood installed a new run-and-shoot offense and the accent was perhaps 75 to 25 percent in favor of the offense, Princeton held its opponents to fewer points than the 159 it scored, and in two games limited the opposing team to zero yards.

The philosophy again this year will be that the offense is more important than the defense as far as devoting coaching time, Beachell commented. As a result, he said that he will continue to make the defensive formation as simple as possible but "more flexible. I think we'll do a lot better this year," he added.

For defensive backs, Beachell will call on Ron Campbell (good speed); Mike Diamond (good tackler); Steve Kopp (has varsity experience); Richard Warfield (linebacker last year); Bob Zinsmeister (good ball hawker); and George Reynolds (has good football sense, played last year).

Junior defensive candidates include Dave Lion, "a good tackler, not afraid to hit" says Beachell; Johnny Madden, who will also serve as the holder for extra points, and Pete Watson, a backup to quarterback John Mooney, who will play defense if necessary.

STARTING GUARDS: Guy Mendelson (left) 5-10, 185, and Jaff Drummond, 6-0, 185, will start at guard in the opening Princeton High School football game Saturday morning with visiting Hamilton. Both seniors are letterman.

SPORTS in Princeton

Linebackers. Two seniors, Dave Harwood and John Figueroa, will anchor the linebackers. Harwood, co-captain of the team, will be starting his third year on defense for Beachell. The center on offense, Figueroa, has fine lateral movement on defense, says Beachell.

Four others being considered by Beachell are Jim Adriance, Freddie Lewis, Robert Wood and Alex Kinnan — the latter two having the edge. Wood has good speed and strength; Kinnan is extremely aggressive and a good tackler.

Linemen. Seniors are Jack Bayer, Lou DiFalco, Jeff Drummond, Richard Edwards, Keith Rendall, Blair Thompson, and Dan Poling, a 220-pound starter last year, who Beachell calls the "fastest lineman on the team." Drummond was also a starter last year as was Bayer at defensive end. Another senior who "should carve himself a place on the line" is Angelo Arcaro, who was sidelined with an injury the entire season.

Junior candidates are Jeff Benfer, who has good speed for a tackle; John Costas, another tackle with lots of agility; Ken Hill, another tackle; Tyler Jones, 5-10, 170, who didn't play as a sophomore; Richard Saunders, Steve Tomlinson, Pete Healey (aggressive, lacks confidence) and 280 pounds of potential, Mike Michael.

The Schedule: Just how well PHS will fare this year depends in part on the caliber of the opposition. The only change in the schedule is the absence of Perth Amboy, which the Little Tigers defeated last year, 7-2, and the addition of Notre Dame — a strong team.

PHS finds itself, however, in the unenviable position of growing progressively smaller but having to play larger schools as a member of the Mercer County League, which is starting its first year as an official league. Heretofore, when every team did not play every other, the championship was always slightly tainted by having the word "mythical" preceding it.

For the moment, it is unthinkable that PHS will stop playing such traditional Group 4 opponents as Trenton, Ewing and Steinert. But the erosion of the male population at PHS upon which classification is based will almost certainly continue.

Presently, PHS has appoxrimately 625 boys which barely puts it into the Group 3 class. Trenton, Ewing, Steinert are Group 4. Just this season, PHS lost about 15 sophomores to the West Windsor school district that would have been on the football team. When the shift from PHS to West Windsor is completed in two years, the number of football candidates will be that much smaller.

After the important test with Hamilton in the opener, PHS will oppose Ewing, 1-8 last year, and which PHS defeated 14-12 last fall to end a long losing streak. Wood sees the Blue Devils as a dark horse this year, "better this year, but not one of the top teams." His son, Craig Wood, is a member of the Ewing football coaching staff, incidentally.

St. Anthony's (4-5) and a 28-12 victim of PHS last year has a new coach in Geoff Hill, who joined the PHS staff last year. Wood commented that Hill was a hard - working, smart coach, but because of a shortage of manpower he predicted he would have trouble keeping his Iron Mikes in contention in his first year.

Hillsborough won only three of nine games last year but one of the three was a wild, 34-28 upset of PHS. The Raiders jumped to an early lead against PHS which was the stronger team at the finish but was unable to offset Hillsborough's early lead. "We should have done better. I know we'll do better this year," said Wood.

Next in line, Bridgewater - Raritan West has always been tough for PHS. The Golden Falcons won last year, 21-6, and Wood described Bridgewater as having a "tough, good football program."

Second Meeting With Hun. Hun (1-7) was one of the few breathers for the Blue and White as PHS romped, 40-0, over its crosstown neighbor, who was struggling through one of its worst seasons in decades. The meeting last year was the first between the two schools in a long time. Largely rebuilding this year, Hun can expect another tough game from PHS.

Steinert (4-5) is an enigma. It has an excellent feeder system, an overflow of personnel and outstanding facilities but coach Pete Brescia has not been able to produce a winner. PHS played one of its best games of the season last year in defeating the Spartans, 24-6. "With the material he's got, they should be as good as Hamilton," said Wood.

Notre Dame returns to the PHS schedule and it does so at a time which Wood says, "should be one of Notre Dame's big years. The Irish, 6-3 last year, have a pair of 200 pound plus running backs and is expected to unleash a strong running attack.

Trenton (1-7) was easily the most disappointing game for PHS last year. The Tornadoes entered the contest winless in seven starts; PHS could wrap up a fine 6-3 season with a win. THS, however, stole the ball on a play that covered 95 yards and made it stand up for a 6-3 upset.

This year, Trenton has a new coach in Mark Bailey, one of Frank Capraro's assistants. He inherits an especially fine sophomore squad. "They'll be better this year but I don't know how much," said Wood.

Wood feels he can improve on last year's 5-4 record. The belief here is that the Little Tigers should win six, perhaps seven. The two toughest games figure to be Hamilton and Notre Dame.

So much rides on the opener.

FALL SERIES UNDERWAY For Carnegie Sailing Club. The Carnegie Sailing Club opened its fall season with 16 Sunfish competing in five races. Picking up from his strong finish in the spring, Walt Gibson finished first followed by Ed Metcalf and Dan Mazzarella.

Sunday, 15 Sunfish and five Lasers raced in the regular fall series competition. Tad LaFountain finished on top in the Sunfish, followed by Gibson and Lou Silver. Vagn Worm proved to be best in the Laser class, with Ed Metcalf finishing second and John Henderson third.

Following the regular program, there were two "doubles" races in which the regular skippers' sons or wives took the helm and competed for special prizes. The winning skippers in this event for the Sunfish were John Kunz, first place, and David Hill, second; for the Lasers, Nancy Henderson, first, and Robert Holzman, Jr., second.

The Carnegie Sailing Club's fall racing season continues through the first Sunday in December. Those interested in joining the Club should call Commodore Jim McPherson at 924-9226.

PLAN WOMEN'S LEAGUE In Tennis. The Princeton Indoor Tennis Center on Washington Road has announced that a women's league will be organized this year.

The season will begin October 1. Groups will meet weekly for 1½ hours for 30 weeks. All players will be divided according to ability, ranging from advanced tournament to intermediates.

Plans are also under consideration to hold ladder and round robin matches within the league during the season. In all such activities, similar groupings will be stressed in order to maintain as high a level of competition as possible.

The program is under the supervision of Julie White, assisted by Dink Asano. For several years, Mrs. White has directed round robin and league play at the Community Park Courts during the spring and summer months; Mrs. Assano is the program secretary for the Princeton Community Tennis Program.

These interested should contact Mrs. White or Mrs. Asano at the Center, 924-0015.

Football Clinic Saturday

A two hour football clinic planned for the public is scheduled for Jadwin Gymnasium on Saturday.

Coach Bob Casciola and his staff, along with key members of the team, will present discussions and demonstrations relating to all offensive and defensive areas, while head trainer Dick Malacrea will discuss injuries, their treatment and prevention.

The clinic is free and will run from 10-12 noon. A raffle for two tickets to each of Princeton's home games, and an autographed team football, will be held.

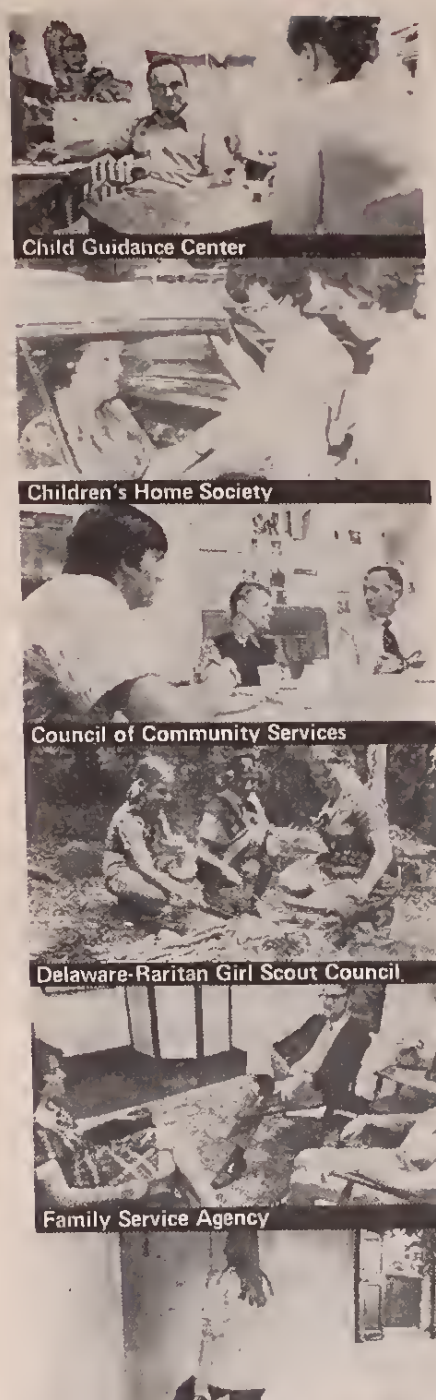
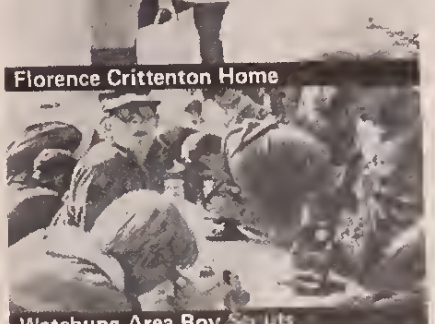
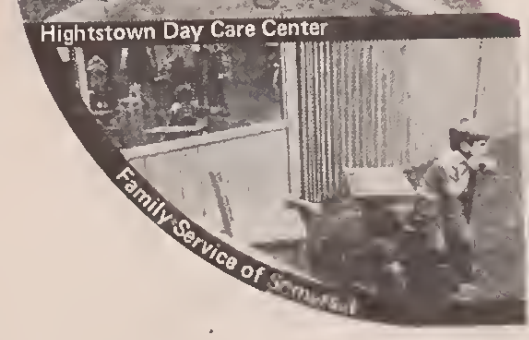
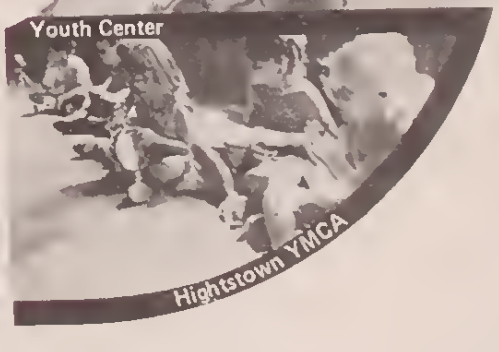
OCTOBER FIRST IS THE DAY









Monday, October first, is the day your United Fund — Red Cross appeal begins. It is the day your contributions are needed to continue the vital work of the twenty Fund Agencies and the Red Cross.

It is also the day that the Princeton stores listed below are going to contribute fifty per cent of every dollar of purchases made in these stores to the United Fund — Red Cross Campaign. When you buy, half of your purchase price goes to help the Fund.

These stores hope you will patronize them on Monday, October 1st. so that the largest dollar amount possible will revert to your United Fund-Red Cross 1973 campaign. With your help in this way the campaign should be off to success. Please help!

The origins of archery have been dated by some scholars as early as the Aurignacian Period about 25,000 years before the modern era. The ancient Egyptians adopted the bow and arrow at least 5,000 years ago. In the time of the earliest pharaohs, the Egyptians practiced archery both in hunting and in warfare against the Persians who were equipped with spears and slingshots. From then on the bow and arrow became almost universally accepted throughout the classical world. Knicks and Bradley to Play in Jadwin Tuesday

A little less than a decade after he lifted Princeton basketball into the bigtime, Bill Bradley will return to play in the $7 million gymnasium his years here helped to build.

With him will be the world champion New York Knickerbockers matched against the Atlanta Hawks in the first professional basketball game ever played in Princeton. The pre-season exhibition contest is set for 7:30 p.m. this Tuesday at Jadwin.

As in the Bradley era, when tickets to the 2,200 seat Dillon Gym were non existent, the contest is expected to be a sellout. The public sale for the 7,500-seat Jadwin Gym ended just 10 days after the $6 tickets went on sale last month. (Classified ads have now begun appearing in TOWN TOPICS asking if any are for sale).

A limited number of student and faculty tickets were put on sale this week, and if by any slim chance there are any left over the public will be notified.

Acutally the sellout is hardly a surprise. The Knicks have been selling out the 19,000 plus seat Garden regularly for several seasons. Their team brand of basketball has won them not only two championships in the past four years, but a large and rabid following as well.

In addition to Bradley, Walt Frazier, Willis Reed, Jerry Lucas, and Dave DeBusschere are expected to see action. Earl Monroe will be sidelined for several weeks, recovering from a recent operation to remove a bone spur.

Since the dynasty of the Boston Celtics in the NBA in the late fifties and early sixties, it's been terribly difficult for the one team to repeat as champion; however, the Knicks, if they all stay healthy, would appear to have an excellent chance.

Somewhat less is expected of the Hawks, who finished second behind the Baltimore Bullets in their division last year, and are not expected to seriously challenge any of the top teams this season.

"Pistol Pete" Maravich and Lou Hudson are among the Hawk stars who'll play against the Knicks. And Ted Manakas, who played with the Tigers last winter, has finally signed with the Hawks, and may see some action. Manakas had been seeking a no-cut contract.

The move to bring the Knicks here for an exhibition game may have come just in time to get Bradley as a drawing card.

It's unquestionably DeBusschere's final season, he'll be coaching the New York Nets next year, and rumor has it that "Dollar Bill" may run for office after this season instead of the ball.

During the halftime of the charitable event, which will divide its receipts between the University's scholarship fund and the United Fund, Bradley will be presented with a key to Jadwin gym.

REMEMBER WHEN? During the Bradley era at Princeton, scenes like this repeated themselves often before a standing room only crowd at Dillon Gym. This shot was recorded at a Princeton-Cornell game in 1964. Dollar Bill will return to Princeton to play basketball for the first time since his graduation when the Knicks meet the Hawks at Jadwin Tuesday in an exhibition game.

HUN AT NEWARK ACAD. For Saturday Grid Opener. The Hun School football team will open its season Saturday when it travels to Newark for a 1:30 game with Newark Academy.

Hun has a score to settle with the upstate eleven. Two years ago, Newark ended Hun's 33 - game unbeaten streak in convincing fashion. Last fall, Newark won again, 19-6, and started Hun on a disastrous season, one in which it won only one game and was outscored, 239 to 44.

This time the outcome may be different. Newark, according to Hun coach Dave Leete, lost its quarterback, a couple of good halfbacks and about three good linemen. "I'm convinced, he said, "That we can give them a good game."

Hun has had two scrimmages in preparation for Saturday's opener. Early last week it scrimmaged Wardlaw, and Leete reported: "We looked sluggish: not good at all." Saturday against Montclair Academy, Leete said that his squad "looked 100 percent better." He cautioned, however that both teams were considerably under the caliber of the teams Hun will meet on its regular schedule.

Nonetheless, Leete commented that although Hun still had a way togo "we're coming around. I hope this week we can put it all together." He reported that Joe Haydu had looked good at defensive tackle in the scrimmages and that Bruce LiSooey, a transfer student from Westfield, was pressing hard to earn a spot in the backfield.

Leete's tentative starting lineup has co-captain Kevin Dwyer at quarterback; Lonnie Cathel and Bob McHugh at half and Terry McEwen at fullback; Bob Lang, center; Anthony DiPastina and John Marshall (co - captain with Dwyer) at guard; Ron Lovering and Kelvin Maxie at tackle and Boz Ziegler and Dave Clark, at end.

The 6-3, 215 -pound Clark pulled a shoulder muscle in practice and Leete is keeping his fingers crossed that he'll be ready to go against Newark. If not, the nod will go to Jackie Porcelli.

Tigers Show Well in Scrimmage with Army

Princeton's 1973 football team can be expected to have considerably more offensive power than last year's struggling Tigers, who were able to produce more than two touchdowns only twice in nine games.

Against Army in a controlled scrimmage at West Point Saturday, Coach Bob Casciola watched his inexperienced operatives run and pass for 310 yards, including an impressive 17 for 24 performance in the air that was credited to six different quarterbacks. The cadets took the field with the advantage not only of practice last spring but six more working days since late August than the Orange and Black has been able to log.

Despite the discrepancy, and the reputation that service teams have for being in top physical condition, Princeton gave a thoroughly satisfactory account of itself. In the tell-tale fourth period, when stamina often makes the difference, it was the Tigers who had something of an edge in the action.

Of the half dozen quarterbacks who ran the team — three lettermen, three newcomers — senior Jim Flynn and sophomore Ron Beible gave the best performances. Flynn was 5 for 7 for 51 yards; Beible completed all four of his tosses for 40 yards.

Receivers Show Well. Obviously, that kind of offense was abetted by some fine work on the part of a number of receivers. Seniors Bill Skinner, set to start at split end, and flanker back Kerry Brown, did well, with the surprise of the afternoon a 6-4 sophomore who was not listed on the three-deep chart in the pre-season press book.

Bill Kahl-Winter caught everything thrown his way as he chalked up six completions for 96 yards. Expectations are that he will give the veteran Bob Harding a solid battle for the starting assignment at right end.

The scrimmage also served to confirm that the first four running backs on whom Casciola will count are Jud Wagenseller, Walt Snickenberger, Romerio Perkins and Howie Baetjer, with the first two the probable starters. Against Army, Perkins had the best statistics (5 for 57 and a touchdown), while Snickenberger was 5 for 26 but had a 45-yard touchdown run cancelled by a holding penalty.

The depth at running back is not as great as at quarterback, but other ball carriers should develop as the season progresses. Princeton's hope is to keep its offense moving in a manner that will take pressure off the inexperienced defensive platoon.

Ken Beytin, the 250-lb. defensive tackle, missed the action Saturday as he recovered from a charleyhorse and his return this week will bolster the Tigers' pass rush. Showing well against th cadets were a pair of middle guards, junior Tom Martin, who will start, and sophomore John Basta.

The linebacking corps, paced by senior Tony Riposta, should be capable but the search for a starting left end on this platoon continues. Nonetheless, Army's more experienced squad was by no means able to push the Tigers around, gaining slightly less yardage than Princeton's 310 and sustaining only one 60-yard scoring drive.

Casciola expressed himself after the scrimmage as being "very, very pleased" with his team's overall attitude and the way the players hit against the cadets. "The general effect was great for morale," he felt.

Casciola singled out only his captain and offensive guard, Bill Cronin, for particular praise. The Tiger coach thinks he will rank with the best linemen in the Ivy League this year.

As for the numerically-confusing situation at quarterback, the starting job has not yet been assigned, despite the fact that Casciola had hoped to pick his man two weeks before the Rutgers opener on September 29. In his first year at Princeton, he is confronted with a precedent-shattering situation in that he must make a selection from among half a dozen candidates.

At the moment, there are indications that the choice will be Flynn, one of the two seniors. Well worth watching however, is sophomore Ron Beible, whose potential appears to be very high.

FINALS SATURDAY

In Springdale Tournament. It will be Bob Cronin and Jim Schwartz against Jack Futerer and John Budd in the championship round of the Governors' Cup Tournament Saturday at Springdale Golf Club. The latter will give away 13 strokes in the 18-hole match, which is based on full handicaps. Futerer plays at 5 and Budd at 19 while Cronin and Schwartz are respectively 16 and 21.

Both teams had relatively little difficulty in recording back-to-back victories last weekend. Cronin and Schwartz were 3-and-2 winners Saturday over Kester Pierson and Bill Quackenbush and triumphed Sunday over Asa Farr and Bob Olson, 7 and 6. The Farr-Olson pair had won Saturday, 1 up, from Robert Lewis and Ross Shrader.

Futerer and Budd were 4-and-3 victors Saturday over the father-and-son pair, the Norman Schueles. On Sunday, they posted a 4-and-2 decision over John Stone and Don Conner. The latter had reached the semi-finals by eliminating Jim Mead and Andy Cahill, 6 and 4.

This weekend will also mark the annual Seniors' Championship. Entrants will post 36-hole medal scores over the two-day period, competing in age brackets from 55-59, 60-64, 65-69, 70-74 and 75 up. Winners will be named on a basis of both low gross and low net scores.

PDS, Without Martin, to Open Season Friday

The worst thing that could have happened to Princeton Day football coach John Boneparth, 10 days before the season opened, has happened.

No, the whole team has not come down with hepatitis, but 70 percent of the offense and a good part of the defense will definitely miss the first four or five games and may miss the whole season. That's a conservative estimate of sophomore Bill Martin's worth to the Panther squad.

A first team all state prep selection as a freshman last year, Martin broke a small bone in his ankle in a scrimmage against Pennington last week. The break wasn't discovered until after the game, but it will be serious enough to keep him sidelined most of the fall.

As they say about a professional superstar, Martin is the franchise. Averaging more than six yards a carry last year, he carried the ball more than 70 percent of the time, in an offense that threw the ball only when it had to.

This year Boneparth, fairly confident of increased success after last season's 4 3 record, had quite naturally built most of the offensive attack around Martin. All those plans are being revamped.

On The Plus Side. . . That's the bad news, but no one at PDS is ready to wrap it up and call it quits. Martin's loss will take away a decided edge the Blue and White would have had over some of their opponents, but the season still holds promise.

Ready to adapt without him is a relatively young squad, only two seniors will play, but one whose members saw considerable experience on the varsity level last year. The initial turnout of 35 boys has been pared down to 30.

The line will be bolstered by players all of whom have some varsity playing time under their belts. Sophomore Larry Fong will switch from the backfield to tackle, while junior Shawn Ellsworth will hold down the other tackle spot. Guard positions will be manned by a pair of juniors Doug Robinson and Mike Young; center by senior Bill Brown. All of them will see double duty on defense too.

Junior Ralph Brown will hold down the tight end spot, as he did last year, and sophomore Frank Konstantynowicz will return at split end.

Hamid The Key. The other senior on the squad, captain Tim Hamid will have the burden of the running attack on his shoulders, with sophomore Mark Blaxill at fullback and junior Keith Thomas at halfback.

The quarterback position will be shared by a pair of sophomores Bill Baggitt and Nick Brady. Baggitt saw limited action last year when senior quarterback Dave Wagenseil was injured. Martin's absence will put added pressure on Baggitt and Brady to develop more of a passing game for the Panthers.

Boneparth described the scrimmage against Pennington, in which Martin played, as one of PDS's best performances on the field. The following one, Saturday, against Greenbrook High School, naturally was devoted to adjusting to his absence.

Germantown Friends, who the Blue and White will open against at 3:30 this Friday at home, is described as small but aggressive by Boneparth PDS has the same schedule as last year, when it handily defeated three out of its first four opponents, and lost to Morristown Beard by just two points.

Even without Martin it still has the personnel available to match that record, and then, who knows, if Martin's ankle heals well he could be back for the final two games. Another winning season would require good tough football on the Panthers' part, but no miracles.

Hole-in-One Contest Produces 2 Aces

The eighth annual Hole-in-One contest sponsored Sunday by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association proved to be a success for two contestants and somewhat less so for the PBA, which had to go out and buy a second color TV set at the last moment.

Winning color TV sets by virtue of a hole-in-one were James V. Tamasi, 38 Scott Avenue, Princeton Junction, and Thomas Moore, 19 Green Street. This is the fourth time that Moore has won the grand prize and it marked the third color TV set he has received from the PBA.

The holes-in one were the first ever in the years the PBA has sponsored the event. They were also a "first" in the careers of Mr. Tamasi and Mr. Moore. Each used a 7-iron on the 140-yard hole at the Springdale Practice Range off Springdale Road.

Joseph Baldino, 511 Ewing Street, won second prize, a sport jacket donated by Nassau - Conover Motor Co., when his ball landed 22 inches from the pin. Third prize, a golf bag donated by Center Sports, was won by Otto Marcolini, 24 Maple Street, who was 26½ inches away from the cup.

Tamasi got his ace at 4:15 p.m. He shot about 70 balls at two shots for a $1. Moore, who reportedly starts to practice for the event a few weeks beforehand, shot 72 balls. He was down to his last five, according to one police officer, when a doctor and his son who had missed the 6 p.m. deadline, asked if they could use some of his.

Moore agreed to sell him four, saying he would shoot the fifth. "One's all I need," he said. His final shot went into the cup, sending policemen scurrying to purchase another $300 plus TV set. "He's still in a state of shock", said an officer.

Other winners in order according to distance were Sam Lisi, Tom Johnson, Mike Pinelli, Frank Constantino, Willis Paine, John Tandy, Bob Black, Bill Cavanaugh, Joe Schoen, Dick Fowler, Chris Aldridge, Harry Kahny, Bob Cifelli, Vince Tufano, Stu Francis, Jeff Botkin, John Cifelli, Dick Servis, John Donaldson, Roland Snead, Gooch Arcamone, Chick Jones, Sam Nini, Claude Pinelli and Walt Tash.

Gifts were donated by: Center Sports, Perna's BP Station, Sam Lisi Paint Store, Nini Chrysler - Plymouth, Center Citgo Station, Prince Circle Exxon, Nassau-Conover Motor Co., 19th Hole Golf Range, Cenerino's Lounge, Stefanelli's American Station, Nini Glass Co., Princeton Electric Co., Brophy's Shoes, Mulheron's Sunoco Station, The Country Squire, Rug & Furniture Mart, Hulit's Shoes, Richard's Shoes, Griggs Corner American Station and Princeton Bank and Trust.

HOME OPENER FRIDAY

For PHS Booters. Slowly, the Princeton High School soccea team is starting to emerge from under the shadow of the Little Tiger football team.

After it had for years been one of the tailenders among Mercer County schools, PHS coach Mel Jones, a former fullback on the Trenton State soccer team last fall forced opponents to take note of the Little Tigers. He guided them to a berth in the annual postseason NJSIAA tournament — the first time PHS had qualified for the event.

Then PHS took another big step toward soccer respectability by winning its first two state tournament games. Overall, the team ended with a fine 8 8-1 record.

PHS will begin its new season Friday when it hosts St. Anthony's in a 3:45 game. The question is, can Jones and his assistant, Lamont Fletcher, keep the Little Tigers contenders for league honors.

Returning lettermen include Tim Valentine, the team captain, who is presently sidelined with a knee injury; halfbacks Mark Solomon, John Willis, Scott Schlichting, fullback Dave Riddell and wing Andy Bolster.

Freddie Wilson, who sparked PHS to one of its playoff wins, heads a list of promising candidates up from the jayvee squad that also includes Tony Baldino, Dave Fisher, Don Seitz, Jim Wetterling, Larry Howe, Dan Muri, Ed Volz and Dave Gibbons.

Eduardo Nini and Alex Di Castro are a pair of seniors out for the first time, while Dave Jenkins, a transfer student, has looked good on defense

The team's 15 game schedule runs through Nov. 7.

JOINS INDOOR CENTER

As Tennis Instructor. Bill Foreman, professional last year at the Nassau Racquet Club, will serve as a full-time professional at the Princeton Indoor Center on Washington Road.

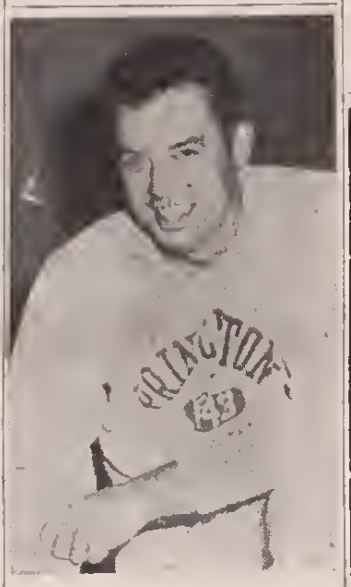
Foreman is a member of the U.S. Professional Tennis Association and is currently ranked fifth in doubles teams in the East. He won the 1972 N.J. State Doubles Championship as well as the '72 Princeton Men's Singles Tournament.

At the Indoor Center, he will conduct all private instruction. He will also work with manager John Conroy as instructor for groups and assist in the Center's overall operation.

A graduate of Rutgers University, Foreman was captain and No. 1 singles and doubles player for the 1968 Rutgers tennis team. He also earned letters in soccer and hockey.

His tennis teaching dates from 1965. During the past summer, he directed the Advanced Tournament Group of the Princeton Community Tennis Program.

PHS SOCCER COACH Mel Jones hapes he can improve an last year's .500 recard as the Little Tigers open their '73 season here Friday against St. Anthony's.



GONE AGAIN: Butch van Breda Kalff, one-time coach of Princeton's basketball team, and last winter hired to assist his successor, Pete Carril, has resigned to serve as coach and general manager of the Memphis Tams in the American Basketball Association.

TWO AWARDS WON

By Holt-Morgan-Schwartz. The Princeton architectural firm of Holt-Morgan-Schwartz, has received two design awards for projects submitted to the annual convention of the New Jersey Society of Architects last week.

An award in the completed projects category was made for an addition to the Rumson Country Day School. A second award, in the preliminary design category was made for the proposed terrace housing project for the H.M.S. Land Company on the Great Road in Princeton Township.

The addition to the school at Rumson provides a new open classroom junior school, a science laboratory and lecture room, and an audio-visual assembly room, all related to a new interior "main street" which reorganizes the circulation of the school. The general contractor was Lewis C. Bowers & Sons, Inc. of Princeton.

The terrace housing project, consisting of eight semi-attached single family residences for which the architects are also the developers, is currently before the Regional Planning Board for land use review.

The firm has also recently moved its office from 10 to 20 Nassau Street. The new larger office space will enable it to continue the increased scope of its services in architecture and planning.

Holt-Morgan-Schwartz was formed as a professional corporation in 1972 as successors to the practice of Holt & Morgan Architects, founded in 1965.

In addition to their professional work, Mr. Holt is a board member and past president of the Arts Council of Princeton, Inc.; Mr. Morgan, a trustee of the Dorothea House Association, is chairman of the Environmental Design Review Committee of the Princeton Regional Planning Board. Mr. Schwartz is chairman of the Pennington Planning Board and a member of the New Jersey Historic Sites Council.

10TH MILESTONE MARKED

By Station WHWH. The month of September has been an extended 10th anniversary celebration for Princeton radio station WHWH.

The 5,000-watt station, which broadcasts at 1350 on the dial, first went on the air in September, 1963. To mark the occasion, Nassau Broadcasting Company, the station's owner, has produced a 66-page history of the station, hosted a champagne dinner for employees and stockholders, honored former Princeton athletes who have been a part of WHWH sports broadcasts, and held a special half-hour, live anniversary broadcast in front of 1,000 listeners at the Princeton Playhouse.

Happiest listener of all was Mrs. Horace Sassman of Monmouth Junction, who won the grand door prize of a week for two at Bluebeard's Castle Hotel in St. Thomas, the Virgin Islands.

Herbert W. Hobler, president of Nassau Broadcasting, figured the hoopla was a justified reaction to WHWH's success in a highly competitive market.

"In the world's most populated radio and TV market," he said, "with over 80 AM and FM signals clearly heard as well as 17 TV signals, we are extremely proud that WHWH has come to dominate listening in our home county."

Mr. Hobler added: "The station has been honored over 100 times for its public service, news and imaginative programming. We have grown from 11 employees to over 30 and have grossed over $4 million in our first 10 years."

New Building in Progress. Interior "office landscaping" is a feature of a new Federal office building on Alexander Street in West Windsor designed by Walker, Sander, Ford and Kerr, 18 Nassau Street, Princeton.

The "landscaping" has been designed for the Federal government's "Office Excellence Program" and it features an open environment with enough flexibility to allow for changes in furniture and office arrangement.

Furniture is grouped according to immediate needs in a large, open area and workers can have privacy by arranging low, moveable partitions.

Telephone and electrical connections are fed to desks by raceways in the floor slab This allows flexibility in desk placement. All heating and air-conditioning is in hidden ductwork above the suspended acoustical ceiling. The heating, ventilating and air - conditioning system is enclosed in a prefabricated penthouse unit

The exterior of the building is brown brick, bronze anodized aluminum and bronze tinted glass.

Tenants will be the northeast regional office for the Food and Nutrition Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. This office administers Federal food assistance and child feeding programs in the 13-state northeast region. Food stamp and distribution programs and national school lunch and breakfast programs are among the responsibilities of this office.

SALES STAFF EXPANDED

By Stewardson - Dougherty. Mrs. John L. Moore, Jr. 21 Hun Road has joined Stewardson - Dougherty Real Estate Associates, in a sales capacity.

Mrs. Moore has been a resident of Princeton for 21 years and has been active in many community affairs. She is a former chairman of the Princeton Day School Parents Association, has served on the board of the Princeton Visiting Nurse Association and is currently President of the Contemporary Garden Club of Princeton.

Mrs. Moore's husband, a 1951 graduate of Princeton, is a vice-president of Lionel D Edie and Company, a subsidiary of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith. The Moores have three sons, John, now attending Lake Forest College, Peter at Bowdoin, and Tommy, a 10th grader at the Day School.

Mrs. John L. Moore Jr.

PROFIT REPLACES LOSS

At General Devices, Inc. has reported a profit of $30,141 for the first half of 1973 as opposed to a loss of $68,501 for the corresponding period of 1972.

For the six - month period ended June 30, revenues were $3,341,205 compared to $3,059,777 for the first half of 1972, an increase of 9 percent.

John L. Smith Jr., president, attributed the change around situation to a firming-up in the engineering and technical services divisions, and improved profit performance within its manufacturing divisions.

Mr. Smith also reported that the stock had been accepted for trading on the National Stock Exchange beginning July 31.

10c DIVIDEND DECLARED

By Mathematica. The board of directors of Mathematica has declared an initial dividend of $.10 per share of common stock. The dividend is payable on January 2, 1974 to stockholders of record at the close of business on November 15, 1973.

It is the intention of the Board of Directors to consider the declaration of future cash dividends on a semi-annual basis, although there can be no assurance with respect thereto since dividends will be dependent upon the Company's earnings, financial condition, and other factors.

OWN SMALL BUSINESS?

Seminar Planned. A two-day Small Business Management Seminar will be held October 24-25 under the sponsorship of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce.

The four leaders of the Seminar will be John Hite, management consultant; Thomas McGrath, whose field is training and management development; Charles Dickerson, senior vice-president of the First National Bank of Princeton and Elliot Cohen, certified public accountaat.

Participants in the seminar will examine principles of modern management, the motivation and manipulation of employees and areas of an accountant's responsibility. A discussion of what a banker considers when he's asked to extend credit to a small business, will also be explored. In each area, there will be illustrative case studies.

The Seminar will be held at Trinity Church in Princeton, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. Lunch and coffee will be provided by the Chamber. The seminar fee is $50 per person Inquiries may be directed to the Chamber at 44 Nassau, 921-7676.

PROMOTIONS LISTED

At ORC. Two staff promotions were announced this week by Opinion Research Corporation.

Ruth Campbell, 112 W. Delaware Avenue, Pennington, has been made Research Assistant. She joined the ORC staff as secretary in June, 1963 and has been at the RCA Space Center.

Mary Pelc of Trenton, has been promoted from associate survey director of Caravan Surveys to Director of Operations for Caravan.

SEMINAR SCHEDULED

By Waddell & Reed. One of the country's largest financial services organizations, Waddell & Reed, Inc., of Kansas City, Mo., has recently opened an office in the Princeton Trenton area, at 202 Scotch Road, Ewing Township

As a way of introducing itself the firm has scheduled a seminar on the "Investment Opportunities in Real Estate" to be held at the Nassau Inn, this Thursday, at 7:30 p.m.

Waddell & Reed will have an expert from its home office discuss this subject in detail. A question and answer period will follow the presentation.

Waddell & Reed, Inc., together with its parent company, Continental Investment Corp., currently manage assets of more than $4 billion and have more than $4 billion of life and mortgage insurance in force.

The Company offers a complete line of financial services to the public, including investment programs for early retirement, money accumulation plans for college educations, as well as corporate pension and profit-sharing plans and Keogh programs for the self-employed. Other investment programs are available in Municipal Bonds and tax-sheltered limited partnerships in oil and gas, and real estate.

In addition, a complete line of life insurance services are offered in conjunction with an investment program or separately.

FIRM HERE IS WINNER

In Architectural Competition. The Princeton firm of Collins Uhl Hoisington Anderson was selected Monday as the winners of an architectural competition for design of a new $2.5 million municipal center for Madison Township.

Although competitions are frequently used in Europe, and occasionally in the United States for major public projects, the use of a competition for a municipal project of this size is unusual in this country.

Collins Uhl Hoisington Anderson's design was selected unanimously on the first ballot The jury report stated that the CUHA design "fulfilled the basic criteria and objectives of the competition and went beyond these requirements to provide an outstanding design for the municipal center."

After obtaining expressions of interest from two dozen New Jersey firms, the township selected eight for interview and then narrowed the field to five firms for the actual competition Each competitor was asked to submit a proposed design, based on a detailed set of requirements prepared by the township planners.

Obituaries

Thomas C. Atchison, 80, of 66 Hartley Avenue, died September 15 in Mercer Hospital. He was a retired electrochemical engineer.

A native of Carnegie, Pa., he lived in Princeton the past 33 years.

He retired in 1968 from Johns-Manville Corporation of Manville, where he had worked 24 years as an electrochemical engineer. For 17 years before that he was chief chemist for the Union Carbide Corp. of Lakewood, Ohio.

A veteran of World War I, he served in France as an Army flier. He was a member of the American Chemical Society, the Nassau Presbyterian Church and Phi Beta Kappa.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ida Starkweather Atchison; two sons, Thomas C. of Edina, Minn., and Robert A. of Rockville, Maryland; one daughter, Mrs. Jack F. Wells of Kearney, Nebraska; and 11 grandchildren.

A private memorial service was held at the family's convenience. Mather Funeral Home handled arrangements.

Miss Ruth C. Stout, 78, of 3501 Princeton Lawrenceville Road, died September 16 in Merwick.

Born in Lawrence Township, she had been a life long resident of the municipality. Miss Stout belonged to Lawrenceville Grange No. 170, Senior Citizens of Lawrence Township and the Rosedale Church.

A sister, Mrs. Marion Major of Lawrenceville, is her only near survivor.

The service was held at the Mather Funeral Home, with burial in Lawrenceville Cemetery.

Mrs. Marguerite Fuller Dailey, 88, of Rural Route 5, died September 15 in Merwick. Her husband was the late Clark G. Dailey, former president of the Alliance Realty Co. and president of the Realty Board of New York during the 1930s.

Mrs. Dailey was a member of the Hugenot Society and had belonged also to the National Society of Colonial Dames.

Mrs. Gibson F. Dailey, her daughter-in-law, of Washington Well Farm, survives, as do four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

A private funeral service and burial were held.

Memorial Service

A memorial service for E. Trudeau Thomas, the former dean of admissions at Hofstra University who died August 23, will be Thursday, September 27, at 4:30 p.m. in the chancel of the Princeton University Chapel.

Mr. Thomas also was headmaster of the Bedford-Rippowan School in Bedford, N.Y., and of the Shadyside Academy in Pittsburgh, Pa. He moved to Princeton after his retirement from Hofstra in 1961.

Mrs. Margaret S. Ackermaa 90, died September 18 at the Princeton Nursing Home.

She was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., and had been a resident of Princeton for 40 years. She was the wife of the late George VanNort Ackerman and has no immediate survivors.

A private interment will be at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Buffalo, N.Y. Arrangements were made by Kimble Funeral Home.

UNION THEME ADVANCED: Among the church leaders present at the Consultation on Church Union meeting held earlier this month at the Nassau Inn were, from the left, Bishop Frederick D. Jordan of the African Methodist Church in Las Angeles, chairman of the church union movement; the Rev. Dr. Paul A. Crow Jr. of Lawrence Township, general secretary of the movement, which is headquartered in Princeton; and Janet Harbison Penfield, 30 Golbreath Drive, a member of the administrative staff at Princeton Theological Seminary. Mrs. Penfield represented the United Presbyterian Church at the meeting.

News Of The CHURCHES

UNION PLAN ADVANCED

By Princeton Group. Representatives of nine Protestant denominations, whose combined membership of 25 million accounts for one - third of all Protestants in the United States, met in Princeton last week to continue discussions that may lead to their eventual union as one church.

The meeting was sponsored by the Consultation on Church Union, 228 Alexander Street. The group was formed in 1962, and in 1968 opened its national office in Princeton. The Rev. Dr. Paul A. Crow Jr., of Lawrence Township, was appointed general secretary.

"It's a long road," said Dr. Crow of the union proceedings. "But it's proved also to be an exciting one. We have possibilities now that we've never had before."

The nine churches in the Consultation are the African Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist Episcopal Zion, Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), Christian Methodist Episcopal, the Episcopal Church, the Presbyterian Church, U.S., United Church of Christ, United Methodist Church, and the United Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Crow's optimism is based partly on the decision of the United Presbyterian Church earlier this year to rejoin the Consultation after a year's absence. Mrs. Janet Barbison Penfield of Princeton, a member of the staff at the Princeton Theological Seminary, represented the United Presbyterians.

Consensus on Faith. Also, reactions to a draft plan of union for the nine churches distributed three years ago, have taken an encouraging line. "The individual churches, the local congregations, have said that the proposed structure was unsatisfactory," Dr. Crow said.

"But, there was general agreement on questions of faith and theological issues," the chief executive officer said. "For the first time we have a consensus on these matters."

One proposed name for the new church is "Church of Christ Uniting." A good deal of support has been generated for that name, said Dr. Crow, although it would have to be rechecked when and if the merger plan reaches a new level.

Last week's Princeton meeting gave further encouragement to the union's organizers. The executive committee, consisting of two representatives from each of the nine denominations, reaffirmed the objective of union as the No. 1 priority of the Consultation.

Fears Allayed. At another meeting earlier this year in Memphis, Tenn., the executive committee adopted several other proposals and also determined that the draft plan would have to be rewritten in light of the criticisms.

The fears of those who thought that the group was losing sight of its original purpose were thought to be allayed by the affirmation of union at the Princeton meeting.

The group at Princeton also received a progress report from a joint Roman Catholic-Consultation committee working on a possible common marriage rite. The committee has worked out guidelines for such a rite, which, the committee hopes, might ease mixed-marriage problems.

Also discussed were possible ways in which predominantly white churches that help finance black colleges may be encouraged to give help also to colleges related to black denominations.

Adjunct Staff. Meeting at the conclusion of the executive committee meeting was another group of about 20 persons known as the adjunct staff team. This unit is made up of staff persons from participating churches and pastors in the vicinity of the meeting place.

Participating in this session was Vic Jameson of Penns Neck, a member of the United Presbyterian information agency in New York.

The Consultation on Church Union holds four executive committee meetings a year, usually scattered around the country to encourage broad participation.

Princeton is the site of at least one meeting a year, and sometimes two or even three, according to Dr. Crow.

ADULT COURSES PLANNED

By Jewish Center. A sampling of the adult education courses and seminars to be offered at the Princeton Jewish Center this fall will take place Saturday at 9:30 p.m. at the Center, 435 Nassau Street.

Participants will meet in mini-classes with teachers and prospective fellow students. The Sunday morning classes begin October 14.

The courses include "Ancient Law and Modern Living;" "How to Live by Jewish Law Today;" "The Book of Daniel;" "Phonetic Hebrew;" and "Torah Trop Reading."

"Hebrew Classics" will be offered Monday nights. "Ulpan Conversational Hebrew," for which tuition will be charged, will be given twice weekly depending on the schedules of the registrants.

Informal monthly seminars on the joys and problems of family living will also be offered. For information call 924-5493.

DUTCH CLERIC TO SPEAK

Public Invited. Dr. Willem Berger, the Dutch pastoral psychologist, will give a public lecture next Thursday, September 27, at 7:45 p.m. in the Campus Center of Princeton Theological Seminary.

His topic will be "Some European Struggling with the Heritage of Anton Boisen. He will report on recent European developments in clinical pastoral education, pastoral theology and pastoral care, comparing them with similar movements in the United States, especially with the work of Anton Boisen, who is considered the father of the movement for clinical pastoral education.

GUEST PREACHER SET

For Prince of Peace Church. Rev. Norman Nuding will be the guest preacher at the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in West Windsor this Sunday. Services are held in the Maurice Hawk School on Clarksville Road with the worship service beginning at 9:30 a.m. followed by the Sunday School at 10:30 a.m.

Rev. Nuding, a graduate of Wittenburg University and the Hamma Divinity School, received his Master of Theology from the Princeton Theological Seminary. He has served in Japan for 15 years as associate professor of English at Japan Lutheran Theological College and as liaison secretary to the Japanese Evangelical Lutheran Church. He is presently on the staff of the Lutheran Board of World Missions as Secretary for Missionary Personnel.

All are welcome to this service and further information may be secured from Dr. Herbert Anderson, vice pastor of the church at 921-7030.

MEMORIAL PLANNED

For Kirsti Pfister. The Kirsti Larsen Pfister Memorial will be dedicated at the Griggstown Reformed Church on Canal Road in Griggstown, this Sunday at 4 p.m.

The memorial consists of new film projection equipment, a complete sound system that includes microphones and speaker system in the Sanctuary, a tape deck and speaker which will play hymns from the Church belfry and Bibles in the pews.

Mrs. Pfister was shot and killed in February, 1967, while working as a teller at Princeton Bank and Trust.

At this service the recently-renovated sanctuary will also be dedicated. The Rev. Merle Hoogheem who began his ministry here 20 years ago will bring the message. Refreshments will follow in the Church Hall.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Princeton Jewish Center has announced the acquisition of the Tax Institute property adjacent to the Center at 435 Nassau Street. The new facilities are expected to provide room for expanded programs for young people and senior citizens, and create additional space for the Jewish Center school and library.

The Rev. Dana Fearon III, minister of the Presbyterian Church of Lawrenceville, will begin a regular series of 15-minute radio broadcasts this Sunday at 8:30 a.m. on WHWH. A member of the Westminster Foundation at Princeton University, and a student in the doctor of ministry program at the Princeton Theological Seminary, Mr. Fearon's radio show will be titled, "The Sound of Hope."

Six Mile Run Reformed Church, Route 27, Franklin Park, starts a new church service program this Sunday at 10 a.m. The first 20 minutes of the service will be a combined program with the church school attending. A special sermon will be directed to the children, who will then be dismissed to attend church school. The service and the church school will both end at 11:15.

Princeton Jehovah's Witnesses this week began distributing a pamphlet on the subject, "Act Wisely as the End Draws Near." That theme was spelled out earlier to the Princeton members by a spokesman from the Witnesses' Brooklyn headquarters, who said that rising environmental pollution coincides with Biblical prophecy concerning the last days of the earth.

The Princeton Monthly Meeting of the Society of Friends has announced the beginning of First Day School (Sunday school) this Sunday at 11 a.m. The Sunday school continues until the end of May, 1974.

Members and friends of the Calvary Baptist Church, Hopewell, will gather at a special luncheon after Sunday's 11 a.m. service to honor the church's pastor emeritus, the Rev. William J. Hays, who is moving to Cape May. Guests should bring their own salad or dessert, and table setting. For transportation call 466-1869 or 466-1880.

ROAD RALLY OCT. 7

All Cars Eligible. The Hightstown-East Windsor Jaycees will sponsor their first annual "Harvest Haul" Road Rally on Sunday, October 7. The event will be designed as a fun type or "gimmick" rally.

All cars, no matter what type or size, will be eligible to compete in the rally; and there will be no limit as to the number of passengers in each car.

The rally will provide a challenge and fun for the expert as well as the novice rally participant. Trophies will be awarded in both the expert and novice class to the driver and navigator finishing first, second and third.

General instructions will be given out at 11:30 in the morning, with the first car out at 12:01. The duration of the harvest haul will be about 3½ hours and the course will be about 100 miles in length. All cars will assemble and be sent out from the parking lot in front of the Hightstown Bowling Lanes, Route 130 in East Windsor.

The entry fee for the Harvest Haul will be $5 per car, however, cars pre-registered prior to September 30 will be given $1 discount. In addition to the $4 entry fee for pre-registered cars, the first car pre-registered will be the first car out on the day of the rally. In essence, cars will be sent out in the order of their registration.

Pots and pans and fine art go equally well in this elegant but functional Contemporary house on a quiet street in Riverside. Beamed cathedral ceilings, marble fireplace, sunken bathtub attest to its elegance. Stainless steel downspouts, cork floors and redwood construction add to the functional design. There are four bedrooms, 3 baths, study and game room. This is a very special property $100,000

A new home, or for that matter any piece of property, can be a real investment for you and your family. Most experts say that the land and home market cannot do anything but improve, and this is generally true. As our children grow, land and ownership of land become more and more important. Luckily for many of our young people, this, more than anytime in the future, is the best possible moment to invest in land and in houses in need of renovation.

Invest wisely with the assistance of those at WALTER B. HOWE INC., Palmer Sq. (924-0095), Pennington 737-3301) and W. Windsor (799-1100). In Real Estate business since 1885. Something to suit every personal preference and pocketbook!

HELPFUL HINT:

COIN-OP DRY CLEANING?

Clothing Manufacturers Say:

J. P. STEVENS & CO. INC.: "No pressing required when these slacks are cleaned in a coin-operated dry cleaning machine."
HAGGAR COMPANY: "Dry clean in a coin-operated machine — no pressing needed."
BRENT: "These tailored slacks are specially treated to keep their all-over, permanently pressed shape. Front and back knife-sharp creases will last the life of the garment. Dry clean only . . . use coin operated machine."
HEATHERDOWNE: "No pressing required when these slacks are cleaned in a coin-operated dry cleaning machine. Best results are obtained when garment is removed from machine as soon as cleaned, then smoothed and placed on hanger."
BOTANY BRANDS, INC.: "This slack can be cleaned in any coin operated dry cleaning machine."

HOUGHTON REAL ESTATE

We offer this 4 bedroom, 2 bath L shaped natural shingle ranch as perhaps one of the finest offerings in the area. The living room has a fireplace—the study has built-in cabinets and the kitchen is attractively and conveniently planned. An architect cleverly designed the recent addition of an all season porch. Most dramatic is its cathedral ceiling and huge beams. The lot is spectacular with a happy mixture of trees and open fields. Attached oversized 2 car garage with workshop; a dog run and heated dog house.
Don't you agree it should be seen?
